OFFERING HOPE TO ALL WHO THIRST

A TALE OF TWO TABLES

PSALM 78:19, PSALM 23:5

We know what it is like to try and hold onto a “spring of hope” while walking through a “winter of despair.”

We choose whether we sit at a table where our appetites are driven by the demands of our _____, or the feast of God’s _____.

I. The Table of _____
   a. Psalm 78:19
   b. Christian Consumer Mentality: We love God when He _____ and get mad when He _____.

II. The Table of _____
   a. Psalm 23:5
   b. Grace doesn’t mean the _____ of trouble, it means experiencing the peace that surpasses all understanding in the middle of it.
   c. The Table of Defiance doesn’t guarantee a change of _____; it means a new _____.

The difference between demanding grace and depending upon grace is no longer looking at God as someone who owes us something and seeing Jesus as the One who had already given us everything we could never earn.

This week don’t let anxiety dictate where you dine. Step away from the grumbling of the desert, take your seat at the Shepherd’s Table of Grace, and rest in the assurance of what is to come.
