

Small Group Discussion Guide: The Legacy You Leave

Main Idea: Your legacy isn't measured by the size of your estate, but by the depth of your faith and the generosity you model to the next generation.

1. Icebreaker

- If an AI wrote a eulogy based only on your recent search history, calendar, and bank statements, what would it say you cared most about?
- Contrast that with what you actually want said at your funeral. What are three words you hope people use to describe your life?

2. Digging Into the Word

Read 1 Timothy 6:17–19 & Proverbs 13:22

- In 1 Timothy 6, Paul warns against putting hope in wealth, which is "so uncertain," and instead tells us to be rich in good deeds and generous. Why is it so easy to slip into trusting our bank accounts for security rather than God?
- Proverbs 13:22 says a good person leaves an inheritance to their children's children. Beyond financial wealth, what does a multi-generational spiritual inheritance look like?

Read Luke 12:15–21 & Philippians 4:11–13

- In Luke 12, the rich man builds bigger barns so he can "take life easy, eat, drink and be merry," only to lose his life that very night. What does it look like to be "rich toward God" instead of just storing up things for ourselves?
- Paul writes in Philippians 4:12–13 that he has learned the secret of being content in any and every situation through Christ's strength. Why is contentment necessary before we can truly be generous?

Read Deuteronomy 6:6–7 & 2 Timothy 2:1–2

- Faith is often caught more than it is taught. Think back to your own upbringing (or mentors in your life): what did you learn about money, faith, or generosity just by watching the adults around you?
- 2 Timothy 2:2 lays out a four-generation chain of discipleship (Paul - Timothy - trustworthy people - others). Who has invested in your faith, and who is watching your life right now?

3. Personal Application

The sermon highlighted the 10 / 10 / 80 Principle as a practical framework for stewarding the resources God has entrusted to us:

- Give 10% (Generosity)
- Save 10% (Legacy)
- Live off 80% (Contentment)
- Which of those three buckets (Giving, Saving, or Living on the rest) comes most naturally to you, and which one stretches your faith the most?
- We often think of stewardship strictly in terms of Treasure, but God also entrusts us with Time and Talent. Which of those three feels hardest to be generous with in your current season of life?

4. Taking Action This Week

Choose one practical step to commit to before your group meets next week:

1. Model Generosity Out Loud: Make one intentional decision this week to let your kids, spouse, or a younger believer see generosity in action. Volunteer together, meet a practical need for someone, or have an honest conversation about why you give and steward your money the way you do.
2. Audit Your Plans: Take a look at your budget, calendar, or estate/will. Do your current financial and time commitments reflect the legacy you want to leave? Identify one adjustment you can make this month to align your resources with your eternal values.

5. Closing Prayer

Pray together as a group, thanking God for the time, talents, and treasure He has entrusted to each person. Ask for the strength to live contentedly, the courage to give generously, and the wisdom to model a faith that echoes into future generations.
