QUESTIONS FOR FURTHER REFLECTION:

1. Often, when we encounter broken people, we seek to distance ourselves from their situation. Have you felt this tendency in yourself? Why do you think that's a common response to people in need? What do you think it reveals about us?
2. Can you remember a time that you saw something and your "guts" got involved? Describe the situation. What do you think makes the difference between simply seeing something and feeling it?
3. Ask God to help you see as He sees. Grab a pen and make a list of people you know who are "running low on hope." What do they lack?
4. Jesus' action on behalf of the widow was multifaceted: he touched the stretcher, he spoke, he handed the boy back to his mother. He ministered with his presence, with his words, and with service. How might you minister to some of the people you listed in question three?
5. Call your mom!
