

DAY 7

Today, I am going to ask you to take a walk through the neighborhood in which you live. As you walk ask God to let you see the hopes and desires of those living around you. Consider what you know of each home you pass. Are there children living there? Are the parents married? Are they facing health challenges? Look at the condition of the home and yard. What does it tell you about the life situation in that home?

Ask God to let you see through His eyes and pray for the families living near you.
