

“Freedom in Death” Philippians 1:20-21

Philippians 1:20-21

I eagerly expect and hope that I will in no way be ashamed, but will have sufficient courage so that now as always Christ will be exalted in my body, whether by life or by death. For to me, to live is Christ and to die is gain.

I eagerly expect and hope...

...That I will in no way be ashamed.

...but will have sufficient courage so that now as always Christ will be exalted in my body

For to me...

...to live is Christ

...and to die is gain

Memory Verse:

Philippians 1:21
For to me, to live is Christ and to die is gain.

1. Why am I alive?

2. What is the focus of my life?

3. Does my perspective on life need to change?

4. Does my perspective on death need to change?
