A Family Gathering

Exodus 18:1-12

---

Moses is reunited with his father-in-law, Jethro. As we approach the holiday season and gather with our own families, there are valuable lessons to be learned from Moses' example. How can this passage serve as a reminder for us to approach our family gatherings as opportunities to glorify God and share His love with those who may not know Him?

Reflection Questions:

1. How do you typically approach family gatherings during the holiday season? Do you view them as opportunities to share your faith or simply as social events?
2. Reflecting on Moses' example, how can you honor and respect your extended family members during these gatherings?
3. How can you incorporate conversations about salvation into your interactions with unsaved loved ones without coming across as pushy or judgmental?
4. Discuss the importance of acknowledging both the blessings and hardships that come from following Christ when sharing your faith.
5. Have you ever experienced resistance or negative reactions from family members when discussing matters of faith? How did you handle those situations?
6. In what ways can we demonstrate Christ-like love and grace towards difficult or challenging family members during these gatherings?
7. What practical steps can we take to ensure that our actions align with our words when it comes to sharing our faith with our families?
