GLORIOUS! (Part 2)

Matthew 28:1-7; Romans 4:23-25

This Resurrection Sunday we will explore the transformative power of Christ's resurrection, moving us from the despair of Friday's crucifixion to Sunday's triumph over death. How does the empty tomb provide concrete evidence for our faith and address humanity's deepest problem - not political systems, circumstances, or other people, but the sin that resides in every human heart?

Reflection Questions:

1. How does the reality that Jesus was forsaken by God on the cross challenge or deepen your understanding of what it cost to secure your salvation?
2. In what ways do we tend to place our hope in political solutions, social programs, or personal effort rather than recognizing sin as the fundamental problem that only Christ can solve?
3. Why is the message of the cross considered foolishness to those who are perishing, and what prevents people from seeing their need for a Savior?
4. The Christian faith is not blind but based on evidence and fulfilled prophecy. How does this distinction strengthen your confidence in sharing the gospel with skeptics?
5. What is the significance of Jesus not only paying for our sins but also imputing His righteousness to us, and how does this complete the work of justification?
6. The disciples went from cowering in fear to boldly proclaiming the resurrection even unto death. What does this dramatic transformation tell us about the power of encountering the risen Christ?
7. If you truly believed that Jesus is the answer to everything, what would change about your priorities, relationships, and use of time?
8. The angel commanded the women to go and tell others about the resurrection. What holds you back from sharing this good news with the people in your life who need to hear it?
