

11 o'clock. September 8th 2026

Transcription of audio recording.

Hello, friends. I have a very specific word I believe the Lord wants me to release. I have been in a state of intercession since I was able to get back home from dropping my kids off at school this morning, and the Lord has just given visions and revelation.

And I thought really hard about writing this down, but I don't think I can get the English words out. So I'm going to do my best just to record this.

I had several visions, like I said, this morning, and I just continue to feel a tug of the Lord to release this part of the vision.

I had seen a clock with the hands at 11 o'clock, and I have seen this before in the spirit, and the Lord is saying that this is the final hour. And I've seen this before in the spirit, and I saw it again today.

And there were some other worldwide things I believe He was showing me that I don't feel to release, but I do feel to release that we are at this final hour.

And the Lord was highlighting three different pockets of people to me as He was showing me certain things going on in the earth realm and in the heavenly realm, and showed me this time clock at 11.

I saw these three pockets of people, and the Lord began to speak.

And the first pocket He was showing me was people of the world and in the world. And He was saying that while He is shaking the very earth to prepare for His coming, that the people will not even pay attention. They won't even see it, right?

And we know that this is biblical, but I'm speaking and assuming that not everybody that is listening to this has read the Bible from front to back. So I'm going to do my best to break this down.

That there will be a people that will basically give no care. They won't understand what's going on. Obviously, they're not discerning the times. They don't get it.

And the Lord was saying that since COVID, the earth has been in a state of chaos, and it just continues to seem to get worse and more intense.

And so the people that are undiscerning, the people of the world, will see these things going on in the news and around them and in their neighborhoods, and they will say, "Well, this is just the world that we live in now."

And they won't necessarily regard it as the coming of the Lord and as this earth is wrapping things up. They will be completely oblivious.

So that is pocket number one.

Pocket number two that I saw was the remnant. And these are the people that are saved, yes, but the people that understand that they have purpose and destiny inside of them.

This is the pocket of people that have been through the wilderness here recently, that have been through testing, that have been through trial, that have been through pruning, that have been in the fiery furnace with the Lord, that have seen His hand on their life, that have felt kind of a holding back up until this certain time.

And the Lord says that My remnant right now is feeling like they are finally alive. They are feeling like they are finally able to advance without limitation. They're feeling like they've finally been aligned, like they've finally been alive.

And I literally watched the hand of God take the lid off of the remnant.

And He said that, "I've done this on purpose for My people, My remnant. Their destinies echo through eternity, and right now they are feeling like I have removed all of the limits because I have."

Because the purpose on their life is echoing into eternity, and they are positioned on this time for this last hour because they are full of purpose and destiny, and that the limitations that were there before are no longer there for the remnant to go and move and flow and do the things that He has given them and designed them to do.

That was the second pocket of people, right?

The first pocket is the world, completely oblivious. The second pocket is the remnant, fully on fire, that are understanding the call of the Lord on their lives and are feeling like they're fully alive.

Now, it was interesting because I could feel kind of the angst of the remnant saying, "Well, I've never felt more alive, but I see this, what's going on in the world, and I'm discerning this time, and I'm feeling like the time is soon. And shouldn't that be a time of doom and gloom?"

And I just felt the heart of the Lord that there can be multiple things that can be true at once.

That yes, the earth and the realm, this can be in its final hour, that God is getting ready to wrap this thing up. But also the remnant can feel like it's never been more alive and aligned and set free and set on fire, because God specifically arranged that to happen at this time on the earth realm.

That yes, we're in the final hour. Yes, there's chaos. Yes, there's shifting. Yes, there's unrest.

But there is also a remnant that's never been fully alive. There's also a remnant that's never been this much on fire and aligned and ready to go with the blueprints and the downloads of heaven.

Just last week or the week before, the Lord came to me in a word and a prophecy for the people, and He said to tell Gideon to get out of the winepress. That it is time to get out of hiding and go forth and be the courageous bride that He has asked us to be.

So again, I said I saw three pockets of people.

One was the world, completely oblivious.

The second was the remnant, fully alive and on fire.

And the third was actually the church as the collective body. And they were sitting in pews, and they were sitting in conferences, and they were sitting in houses of God in a daze.

And I could peer into the vessel that was their life, and I saw that they only had a little bit of oil at the bottom of their vessel.

And I felt the angst of the Lord, the frustration of the Lord, at the church body to come and gather from conference to conference, church service to church service, and to sit unmoved and to sit not full and to sit not on fire.

And the Lord was saying that in this final hour, He is drawing a dividing line between the church that looks the part and the remnant that is on fire.

And that it is up to the remnant to begin to pour out the fire of God, not only throughout the nations, but on the church, to awaken the church so that she begins to be the fully awake bride that she is.

Because you and I both know that in the last hour, there is not just a remnant, but there is a church asleep. There is a lukewarm bride.

And I feel that God is shaking the very crust of the earth to not only wake those who are lost, but to wake the church that might just miss the coming of the Lord—to wake the church that is asleep at the wheel.

And I felt just the annoyance of the Lord over this massive body of believers that call themselves saved but are not living lives that are conducive to the fire-filled authority that we have in Christ.

So today, I don't know what area or what pocket of people you might find yourself in. But I need you to understand me today that the coming of the Lord is soon, that He is coming back quickly.

And if I were you, I would find yourself in the remnant. I would find yourself tucked up in the holy mountain of God, because He has a specific call and assignment on your life.

That He has positioned you throughout the telescope of time to live right now in this final hour.

And I know there's about to be a shaking, and I know there's about to be political unrest like we've never seen before. And I know the earth is about to just lose its whole mind.

But I also know that there is a remnant of people that God has placed specifically on this time, and that He has given them fire shut up in their bones, and that He has given them authority and power to push back darkness and to advance the call of God on this hour.

And you might be listening to me thinking, "Well, what's the use? We're running out of time."

But I'm telling you that there will be a very real moment where you will stand before the God of the universe, and you will have to give an account for your life.

Did you do what He asked you to do? What did you do with the gifts and the talents and the abilities that He placed on the inside of you?

Because God wastes nothing.

And if I were you, I would find myself about my Father's business in this last hour.

I would not sit idly going from work shift to work shift, going from church service to church service. But I would find yourself a prayer closet.

I would find yourself a place under the mighty hand of God where you can be humbled, where you can worship, where you can say, "God, clean me out, because I don't want my vessel to be one of no oil. But I want to have not only enough oil for now, but enough oil to carry me over."

Just like—just like the ten virgins and the five foolish and the five wise.

God, make me wise in this last hour.

Lord, let Your people not only discern the time, God, Lord, but let them be full of Your oil and full of Your power and full of Your authority, God.

I thank You, Lord. I thank You for showing me what You have shown me, Lord, and that we are in the final hour, but that we also can be a remnant that is fully awake and fully aligned.

And I speak to the remnant under the sound of my voice, that you have been sitting on plans, and you have been sitting on the destiny, and you have been sitting on the call of God on your life.

And I felt the authority from heaven this morning say that He has removed the lid from the remnant, and that He is ready and willing to give grace and give acceleration and give the finances and the provision and everything that you think that you need to carry out the call of God on your life.

That He has removed the limits.

So I would dare you to believe Him at His word this morning. For you to position yourself in prayer and say, "Lord, what is it in this hour that You need me to put my hands to? And show me how to put one foot in front of the other, and give me a vision for my life like never before."

I'm telling you, the power of God has been wild these past couple weeks, and He has been meeting me in this place of prayer.

And I am bringing to you the things that I feel to bring to you.

So thank you, not just for listening to me, but for giving an ear to what the Spirit of God is saying in this hour.
