

Psalm 108

A Song. A Psalm of David.

C G C F C G C C/G G

1. My heart is steady, God, a grateful song I raise; awake, O harp, in
2. Above the heavens, O God, and over all the earth, let all exult your
3. The holy God has said, "All lands belong to Me." For in deliverance

G C G C G7 C F G7/D C

6 joy - ful strains, awake, my soul to praise. Among the nations, LORD, to glor - ous name and praise your match - less worth! Stretch forth your might - y hand in or de - feat, they all shall bow the knee. O who will lead our hosts to

F G7 F C G7 C G C G C

11 you my song shall rise; your steady love and faithfulness extend beyond the skies. 2. A an - swer to my prayer and let your own be - loved ones in your sal - va - tion share. 3. The tri - umph o'er the foe, if you, O God, shall cast us off, nor with our armies

C G7 C F G7/D C F G7 F C G7 C G

17 go? The help of man is vain, your help, O LORD, we need; with you we shall do

G C G C

<sup>23</sup>

val - iant - ly, in you is vic - tor - y!

psalm paraphrase: The Psalter, 1912, alt.
meter: Short Meter Doubled (6.6.8.6.D.)
music: traditional English melody