Questions

1) Was there anything from the text that jumped out at you? If so, what was it and why did it stand out for you?

2) Reconciling with another person or the Lord includes three elements—confessing, taking responsibility of sin and premeditating changes. Have you ever experienced a particularly positive reconciliation or a bad one? Why made it so good or so bad? Where do you see yourself handling these conversations well? Where do you struggle in them?

3) We said that we need to see ourselves the way God sees us—

- As sinful/rebellious people, yet also as
- People that God deeply desires

Which of these are easier for you to believe about yourself? Why do you think you might tend toward remembering one over the other?

4) As you look back over the last 12 months of Covid, have you gravitated toward any idols to provide comfort/sense of control? How might the Lord be speaking to you about how to give that to him?
