

Future Promises | Micah 7:11-13
Rev. Dr. Russell St. John

1. What does the word “boundary” signify in verse 11? Why does this frame our understanding of the passage?
2. What walls might Micah have in mind that God’s people help to build? How does Micah’s contemporary, Isaiah, help us to understand what is being foreseen in Micah?
3. In what ways were God’s people supposed to maintain separation from the nations?
4. What was their outward separation supposed to reflect and to indicate?
5. When was the promise of an expanded vineyard fulfilled? By whom?
6. How can you help to cultivate the vineyard?
7. How should the knowledge that you once were a wild vine affect you as you live in the vineyard?
8. What kind of “desolation” does Micah primarily have in mind? Why is this caused by “the fruit of their deeds?”
9. Why will the contrast between the vineyard and the desolation necessarily grow as the vineyard expands? Why do men prefer the desolation?
10. How can you beautify the vineyard?
11. Why is it so important that the vineyard look different than the desolation?
12. How is the growing desolation an opportunity for a thriving vineyard?
