SPOTLIGHT // VALUES

One of our church's enduring values is missional living – we do whatever it takes to ensure that everyone within our reach encounters the gospel.

The examples of this value playing out among you, are both varied and many:

- A doctor sharing the gospel with a patient at the end of life
- An empty-nester saying yes to leading an elementary small group on Wednesday nights
- Men and women who every Sunday bring a friend or neighbor with them to worship
- Generosity that enables us to fund regular ministry and meet needs during times of crisis around the globe
- Church members showing up on the front lines of care for families effected by crisis in our own back yard.

This list doesn't include the ways that many of you have quietly, faithfully shaped your lives, leisure and vocations in order to ensure that they are patterned after the Great Commission.

All of us have a mission that defines our lives. What is yours? I hope every week as we leave worship you remember the good news of the gospel, which is not simply that God has rescued you from brokenness but that he has called you to be a means of Christ's healing work spreading in your home, neighborhood, workplace and world. If you feel inadequate to that, you are not alone! Christ's disciples were found doubting and afraid as they heard Jesus' call to go make disciples.

How do we explain that? The answer is in Acts 1-2, the ascension of Jesus and the coming of the Spirit. Jesus is still at the right hand of the Father. His Spirit still equips the called (which is different than calling the equipped!). The health of Signal Pres depends on every member recognizing and stepping into the call to live a life shaped by the Great Commission. Just as much, your joy, freedom, and confidence are rooted in you living according to the mission that the LORD has given you. If you ever need to talk with someone about how your life and gifts might serve Christ's mission, or how his mission might shape your life, know that your pastors or your shepherding elder would have no joy greater than speaking with you.
