Go to people

A chess club has been recently formed by some members of VC. Young and old alike of all ability levels are connecting over the game. People from various communities are coming together to share knowledge, tips, and ideas and to play one another in fun. This photo shows some of the players who have recently gathered for an evening of chess.

So, I usually take the opportunity to stay home and have some time alone while my husband takes our kids to practice, but this week I decided to "go where the people are" and intentionally mingle and get to know other team parents. Each time, the door was wide open to connect with a different mom in such an easy way. It's amazing how much can be shared in just an hour and a half! I have no idea what God may do through those connections, but it was definitely better than hiding out at home or sitting there staring at my phone, waiting for practice to end! ❤️
