

Introduction

Psalm 1 and Psalm 2 stand shoulder-to-shoulder as two _____ as one enters the book of Psalms.

According to Acts 4:25, the primary author is the _____
_____, while the secondary author is _____.

There's more than merely an _____ fulfillment in the days of Israel's kings. There is an _____ fulfillment as it looks ahead to the Lord Jesus Christ.

The Insurrection of the World (v. 1-3)

This is not a quiet _____ against God, but it is a raucous _____ that is loud and boisterous against God.

The nations don't want to be constrained by God's established plan for _____. This is God's inspired commentary of the effects of total _____ over the whole world.

The Indignation of the Lord (v. 4-6)

The world is _____ against the Lord, and the Lord is _____ upon His throne in heaven.

laughs = This is not a laughter of hilarity. It is the laughter of mockery and
_____.

The Lord =

Cross references:

This word "anger" carries the idea of flaring the _____ with heavy breathing because of _____ anger.

fury =

Cross references:

Spurgeon says in The Treasury of David, "The bow is bent, the aim is taken, the arrow is fitted to the string, and what, O sinner, if the arrow should be let fly at thee even now! Remember, God's arrows never miss the mark, and are, every one of them, 'instruments of death.'"

Regardless of what the defiant peoples may _____, the eternal purposes of God move forward unaltered and _____.

The Inheritance of the Son (v. 7-9)

The speaker changes, and it is now God the _____ who speaks.

This speaks of an inter-_____ conversation between the Father and the Son from before time began.

"Today" (v. 7) is a specific reference to the day of the _____ of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Once enthroned at the right hand of God the Father, the Son is charged by the Father to _____ the defiant nations. This looks ahead to the final _____ at the end of time in Revelation 19:15.

The Invitation of the Psalmist (v. 10-12)

The speaker yet changes again, and the _____ himself speaks.

You should rejoice that the _____ of God has been dammed up by the dam of His _____.

"Take refuge" is a decisive act of faith that involves _____.