CONNECT GROUP QUESTIONS | 10.19.25

What's something in creation or life that makes you stop and think, "There has to be more than chance"?

Why do you think this question - "Is God real?" - matters for how we live day-to-day?

Pastor Marty said, "Everything that begins to exist has a cause."

- What do you think about that logic?
- Does it strengthen or challenge your view of how the world began?

Which is easier to believe - "nothing made everything" or "Someone made everything?"

What parts of creation make you most aware of design and order? (The sky, your body, nature, etc.)

How does the LEGO illustration help you picture the difference between chaos and design?

If science and faith both reveal truth, how can we hold them together instead of against each other?

Why do we all seem to agree that some things - like murder or betrayal - are truly wrong?

Pastor Marty said that real love requires freedom.

- Why is that such a risky choice for God to make?
- How does that change the way you think about evil and suffering in the world?

Of the three arguments - philosophical, scientific, moral - which one connects most with you right now, and why?

Read Acts 17:27

God did this so that they would seek him and perhaps reach out for him and find him, though he is not far from any one of us. Acts 17:27 NIV

What's one way you could "seek and find" God this week?
