Life Change: We serve Christ

Encouraging notes motivate godliness

Paul encourages the Colossians to godliness

Christians are rightly related to the Triune God

Christians possess faith, hope, and love

Christians appreciate the gospel truth

I was a graduate student in the 1980s, immersed in deconstruction. We fancied ourselves the smart ones and disdained the rest...[Jacques] Derrida consolidated [Hegel and Heidegger] and gave it a name, “différance.” Différance is not. There is no “nature” or “reality” [and] the force or process that yields this broken world, isn’t real—or unreal. Différance liquidated the world, but it empowered us. Truth became a high-stakes game of interpretation, and we played it with the fervor of a keen novice. [Of course] it was all nonsense, and it bothers me to recall that condescension. – Mark Bauerlein, “Vulgar Deconstruction”

Christians rejoice at the fruitfulness of God’s work

Christians should serve Christ

letter to the Colossians

The Colossian heresy Paul addresses in this letter had Jewish, pagan, and mystic elements mixed up together. Paul gives the definitive response in his brilliant, inspired letter. The answer to everything is Jesus. Full value comes in him.

- Imperialism. The imperial cult involved the worship of the emperor as deity.
- Classical Plato (Middle Platonists) & Aristotle followers (Peripatetics). Truth can be found (sometimes) through philosophic thought.
- Stoicism. This was possibly the most powerful group, and were somewhat mystical, but not in a wildly pagan sense; rather, Stoics were dutiful, orderly, often ascetic, and held high moral standards. Personal sacrifice was the path to success.
- Skepticism. The Skeptics were decidedly derisive toward the Stoics. They generally taught that true knowledge was unobtainable in this life.
- Epicureanism. Epicureans were flatly atheist in that they considered the gods part of the intermundia – the between worlds – from which they took no notice of human affairs.

Followers of Epicurus anticipated modern evolutionists in their belief of a closed universe emerging from the chance collision of atoms within a void. In terms of ethics, they regarded pleasure as the ultimate good. Pleasure for them did not signify devotion to sensual excess but a life lived in moderation, since the traditional virtues of prudence and justice in their view yielded true happiness. – The Archaeological Study Bible, p. 1937.

- Imperialism. Bow before & leverage government power.
- Middle Platonists & Peripatetics. Truth might be found...if you think hard.
- Stoicism. Ascetic, high standards of sacrifice lead to success.
- Skepticism. There is no truth.
- Epicureanism. Materialism, lived in moderation for happiness.

- Imperialism. Bow before & leverage government power.

- Stoicism. Ascetic, high standards of sacrifice lead to success.
- Skepticism. There is no truth.
- Epicureanism. Materialism, lived in moderation for happiness.
- Mystery religions. Secretive closed groups offered personal salvation through levels of earned attainment.
- Angel worship. Pagans worshipped local deities as manifestations and/or servants of Zeus, Caesar, or some other great deity. This transferred almost wholesale into some Christian worship.

The worship of angels was strong in Phrygia. Paul warned the Colossians against it in the first century. The Council held at Laodicea on the Lycus, about A.D. 363, stigmatized it as idolatrous. Theodoret, about 420-50 A.D., mentions that this disease long continued to infect Phrygia and Pisidia. But that which was once counted idolatry, was afterwards reckoned as piety among [the Greek Orthodox.] – Sir William M. Ramsay, The Church in the Roman Empire, p. 477.

- Imperialism. / Middle Platonists & Peripatetics. / Stoicism. / Skepticism. / Epicureanism. / Mystery religions. / Angel worship.
- Jewish mysticism. Jewish mystics used certain repetitive practices to open the soul to God's special extra disclosure.
- Judaistic legalism. Determined to earn salvation, they traded the eternal Abrahamic covenant of grace for a warped Mosaic Law which they pretended was intended for justification.
- Gnosticism. Special seasonal "alignments" and secret knowledge were practiced as a way to reach God.

Epaphras came to Paul in prison to report a problem with false teachers who taught a mixture of Christianity with a bunch of philosophies including Gnosticism (2:8) [WB note: they probably did not yet call this core system Gnosticism.] ...The essence of the problem centered around the person and work of Christ. The Gnostics denied that Jesus was fully man but affirmed that He was fully divine because of their eternal antagonistic dualism between matter and spirit.

...For them there were many angelic levels (eons) between a good high god and humanity; Jesus, even though the highest, was only one of the gods. They also tended to be intellectually exclusive (cf. 3:11, 14, 16, 17) and emphasized a special exclusive secret knowledge (cf. 2:15, 18, 19) as the path to God instead of Jesus' atoning, vicarious sacrifice and mankind's repentant faith

Various scholars through the centuries have tried to tie Paul to every one of those cultural voices. Perhaps more than any other single letter, Colossians proves that Paul's thought was distinct from each and every one. In fact, Paul speaks forcefully against people wandering from biblical Christianity into these various influences.

A DC insider said that in his estimation, “between 30 and 40 percent” of the Zoomers [Gen Z] who work in official Republican Washington are fans of Nick Fuentes. [Holocaust denier and leader of the “Groypers,” a collection of Christian nationalists and white nationalists.] I had this confirmed multiple times by Zoomers who live in that world. If you think being raised Christian is some kind of vaccination against anti-Semitism, you’re wrong.

I asked one astute Zoomer what the Groypers actually wanted (meaning, what were their demands). He said, "They don't have any. They just want to tear everything down."

Then he went on to explain in calm, rational detail why his generation is so utterly screwed. The problems are mostly economic and material and [not nearly as severe as those faced by previous generations]...But many of these young men are fatherless. Most of them spent their youths being told that as whites, and especially as white males, they are what's wrong with the world.

Fuentes is a living, breathing illustration of what Hannah Arendt meant when she spoke of people willing to revel in transgression such that they tear down the pillars of civilization just for the fun of seeing those who had been gatekept away breaching containment...If I were writing a new edition of Live Not By Lies, I would absolutely revise the book to account for the lies that are consuming the Right today...They really do want to burn it all down. – Rod Dreher, “Groyperism’s Spread Among Generation Z Conservative Apparatchiks Is Real,” November 10, 2025 *Rod Dreher’s Diary

The Greeks had a word for this – ἰδιώτης idiots. Paul uses the term 4 times in his letters to Corinth. Idiotes is a vulgar person concerned only for their own material benefit. Idiotes are flippant with words, disrespect tradition, see no hope beyond today, and bear loveless grudges. Idiotes want to burn it all down.

- The believer in Jesus has value – <sup>1:13</sup> He has rescued us from the domain of darkness and transferred us into the kingdom of the Son he loves. <sup>14</sup> In him we have redemption, the forgiveness of sins.
- The Christian should live by God's values – <sup>1:10</sup> so that you may walk worthy of the Lord, fully pleasing to him: bearing fruit in every good work and growing in the knowledge of God.
- The Christian creates value in society – <sup>3:23</sup> Whatever you do, do it from the heart, as something done for the Lord and not for people.
