1. Stephen talks about his wit being a way he breaks down walls. What is a characteristic God has given you to use to break down walls with those you influence?
2. The Board members of Metro Maryland Youth For Christ recognized some of the wounds in their lives and how those wounds had affected the manner in which they lead today. In what ways have your wounds changed your effectiveness as a leader? Good or bad.
3. Stephen encourages shepherd leaders to lean into their relationship with Christ, as He did not intend for us to be lone under-shepherds. In what ways do you reflect this to be true in your shepherding role?
