ADAT IS...

Reflecting the Jewishness of Yeshua

A House of Prayer for all Nations

Centered on the Biblical Calendar

Spirit-filled blended worship made up of contemporary music and liturgy

A congregation of people who are discovering who we are, becoming who we are created to be, and investing in God's kingdom.

TITHES & OFFERINGS

Most importantly you can partner with Adat through prayer.

You can give to Adat Hatikvah in the box near the entrance, online, our app, and by mail.

TODAYS READINGS

Torah: Genesis 24:1-4

Haf: 1 Kings 1:22-30

B'rit: Hebrews 6:13-20

John's vision helps us understand the continuity of Prophecy and how to apply the concepts to our lives. However, no other book in the Bible has been more misunderstood than the book of Revelation. Revelation Chapter 4 starts the vision of Paul: Revealing Yeshua, and the Elders around the throne and their worship.

Rev 4:1-4

Rev 4:5-7

Rev 4:8-11

Growth Group study questions:

Read Rev 4:1-4, 1 Kin 22:19; Is 6:1; Ezek 1:26; Dan 7:9

- Look at each passages and compare the visions
- Read Mathew Matt 19:28-30
 - Who is Yeshua talking to and what is he saying will happen to them?

Read Rev 4:5-11, Ex 19:16, Ezek 1:5-22, Isa 6:1-5

- What is the setting like around the throne
- What do we expect John to do next?
- How would you respond to seeing God?
- List the characteristics of Yeshua in the words of praise
- Why is Yeshua worthy of praise?

PRAYER POINTS

- Pray for evangelicals to maintain their spiritual fervor, cultivating a passion for reaching the lost and discipling others for service.
- Pray for healing and reconciliation for those affected by the tragic wounds of a devastating civil war.
- Pray for effective methods for reaching troubled youth, many of whom have turned to gangs and violence.
- Pray this nation will have a heart for Israel and Jewish People

SUMMARY

Known as "the Savior", "the country with a smile", and the "Land of Volcanoes", El Salvador goes by many titles, yet all of the names cannot encompass the diversity of the cultures and people that fill this beautiful nation. Though the smallest country in Central America and the only one without a Caribbean coastline, El Salvador has the third largest economy in the region. With coffee grown in the mountains of the Sierra Madre and sugar cane grown along the coast, much of the population is employed by a prosperous agriculture. A mixture of indigenous and Spanish influences, Salvadorian identity is centralized around language, food, and religious beliefs.

Yet only a few years ago, the nation was not so unified. In January of 1992, a cease-fire ended a twelve-year civil war that had taken the lives of over 75,000 people. Though the years of violence are behind them, corrupt courts and officials still prevent victims from reporting crimes and silence calls for justice. In spite of prosperous agriculture and a developing industrial sector, the gap between rich and poor continues to grow. The poorest families build homes out of discarded cardboard and sheet metal, and half of all children between the ages of six and sixteen do not attend school because their family is unable to pay school fees.

Poverty may run rampant, but God's richness flows through the hearts of the Salvadorian people. In the past decade, over 9,000 churches have been planted, three of which have become some of the largest mega churches in Central America. There are not enough ministers or Bibles for the growing number of those who are coming to Christ. Forgiveness to those who bear the emotional scars of the civil war still needs to be offered and accepted on both sides of the conflict. The church needs more materials and financial resources to continue to serve the new believers and to continue the ministry that is exploding within the borders of El Salvador.
