

If you're asking this question because you want to know how to get the most out of life for yourself, well then, as a Christian, your question is off. In fact, it is way off. Why? Because this life is not about you getting the most. It is about you giving the most! The Bible teaches that "God bought us with a high price. So, we must honor God with our bodies" (1 Corinthians 6:20). You see, people focused on self enhancement ask, "what's in it for me?" People focused on exalting Jesus ask, "What can I do to glorify God?" So then, which is it with you? Are you about getting the most or giving the most? Answering that question honestly will help you see whether your motivation is about self or about the Savior. Now, here's the really crazy thing for you to consider - according to Jesus, the more we give of our lives to others, the more we get out of life for ourselves. This week and next, we'll learn how this all works and how to make this all work.
