

THE SUPERNATURAL LAW OF LANGUAGE

BISHOP RC BLAKES, JR.

Have you ever considered that the most dangerous weapon and the greatest medical instrument in your house are resting right behind your teeth? We often treat our words as if they are cheap. We throw them around in traffic, we whisper them in our insecurity, and we hurl them at the people we love the most when the tension rises. But language is not just a tool for communication. Language is a supernatural law.

Think about the law of gravity. Gravity does not care if you believe in it, whether you are having a good day, or whether you are a good person. If you step off a roof, gravity takes over. The law of language operates with the exact same ruthless consistency. When God created the cosmos, He did not use His hands; He used His voice. Because you are made in His image, your words do not just describe your reality—they create your reality.

PROVERBS 18:21 NIV

The tongue has the power of life and death, and those who love it will eat its fruit.

Notice what the text actually says. It does not say the tongue has the power of influence. It says life and death. You are literally eating the fruit of the words you spoke five years ago. Today, we are going to look at how this law impacts three dimensions of your existence, and how the Holy Spirit wants to take control of your vocabulary.

1. THE IMPACT ON YOURSELF (THE INTERNAL ARCHITECTURE)

Your tongue is the architect of your emotional house. So many of us are sitting in church every Sunday, accomplished on the outside but secretly depressed, battling anxiety, and fighting compounded losses. We pray for God to change our feelings, but we spend Monday through Saturday speaking absolute death over our own potential. You cannot pray for healing and then speak sickness over your identity. The Holy Spirit wants to be your therapist, but He needs your words to come into agreement with His diagnosis of who you are.

Look at David at Ziklag. He has lost his family, his men are turning against him, and he is standing in the ashes of his own life. The scripture says that in the middle of a debilitating disappointment, David did not wait for a prophet to encourage him. He opened his mouth and encouraged himself in the Lord. He used his own vocal cords to self-regulate his soul and pull himself out of despair.

Self-assessment: What have you been speaking over your own potential lately? Are you repeating your trauma, or are you declaring your divine inheritance?

QUOTE: "Words are the clothing our thoughts wear." — Charles Spurgeon

Your internal atmosphere will always match the words you speak to yourself in the mirror. You have to stop calling yourself a failure just because you experienced a failure.

PROVERBS 12:18 NIV

The words of the reckless pierce like swords, but the tongue of the wise brings healing.

JAMES 3:4-5 NIV

Or take ships as an example. Although they are so large and are driven by strong winds, they are steered by a very small rudder wherever the pilot wants to go. Likewise, the tongue is a small part of the body, but it makes great boasts.

HOW-TO STEPS: REBUILDING YOUR INTERNAL ARCHITECTURE

Catch the complaint. When you feel a self-deprecating thought rising, refuse to give it vocal life.

Speak the counter-truth. If you feel invisible, verbally declare: "I am seen, known, and valued by the Creator of the universe."

Surrender your morning vocabulary. Start the first five minutes of your day speaking out loud what you are grateful for, before looking at your phone.

2. THE IMPACT ON OTHERS (THE EXTERNAL ATMOSPHERE)

We do not just speak to ourselves; our words spill over onto everyone around us. This is where the law of language touches your marriage, your motherhood, your fatherhood, and your friendships. Every word you speak to your spouse or your children is either building a bridge of connection or digging a trench of bitterness.

When you look at Jesus, you see a master of intentional language. When He meets Simon, He looks at a man who is unstable, erratic, and impulsive. But Jesus does not speak to Simon's current condition; He speaks to his divine destiny. Jesus calls him Peter—the rock. Jesus co-regulated Peter's chaotic heart by speaking over him who he was called to be, long before Peter had the maturity to act like it.

QUOTE: "I have decided to stick with love. Hate is too great a burden to bear." — Martin Luther King Jr.

If you want an authentic partnership in your home, you have to monitor the climate of your mouth. You are the thermostat of your house, and your words set the temperature. If you are constantly criticizing, nitpicking, and reminding people of their past failures, you are cultivating an orphan spirit in your own living room. We have to learn how to speak life into the deep inner wounds of the people we love.

EPHESIANS 4:29 NIV

Do not let any unwholesome talk come out of your mouths, but only what is helpful for building others up according to their needs, that it may benefit those who listen.

PROVERBS 16:24 NIV

Gracious words are a honeycomb, sweet to the soul and healing to the bones.

HOW-TO STEPS: SHIFTING THE EXTERNAL ATMOSPHERE

Adopt the 24-hour pause rule. If you are emotionally triggered by a spouse or friend, wait 24 hours before having the heavy conversation.

Find the gold. Make it a daily habit to verbally affirm one specific thing you appreciate about your partner or child.

Ask the validation question. When someone is hurting, ask: "Do you need me to help fix this, or do you just need me to listen and agree that this is hard?"

3. THE IMPACT ON THE SPIRIT REALM (SUPERNATURAL AGREEMENT)

This is where language moves from psychology into raw theology. There is an unseen realm, populated by angels, principalities, and the Holy Spirit, and that realm is hyper-responsive to the human voice. When you speak, you are casting a vote in the spirit realm. You are either coming into agreement with God's sovereignty or you are making a covenant with the enemy's deception.

Consider the valley of dry bones. God brings the prophet Ezekiel to a valley filled with death and stagnation. But God does not just wave His hand and fix it. He looks at the prophet and says, "Prophesy to these bones." God required a human voice to activate a heavenly miracle. The Holy Spirit was hovering, waiting for Ezekiel to speak the word so the Spirit could do the work.

Too many of us are sitting in valleys of financial pressure, physical health crises, and broken families, waiting for God to do something, while God is waiting for us to open our mouths. When you speak the Word of God, you give angels their assignment and demons their eviction notice. You have dominion.

QUOTE: "Faith is taking the first step even when you don't see the whole staircase." — Martin Luther King Jr.

You cannot fight a spiritual battle with a closed mouth.

MARK 11:23 NIV

Truly I tell you, if anyone says to this mountain, 'Go, throw yourself into the sea, and does not doubt in their heart but believes that what they say will happen, it will be done for them.

EZEKIEL 37:4 NIV

Then he said to me, Prophecy to these bones and say to them, Dry bones, hear the word of the Lord!

HOW-TO STEPS: EXERCISING SUPERNATURAL DOMINION

Find a base scripture for your battle. Locate one specific promise in the Bible that addresses your current crisis.

Pray it out loud. Do not just think your prayers; speak them into the atmosphere of your room or your car.

Stop narrating the problem. Shift your vocabulary from telling God how big your mountain is, to telling your mountain how big your God is.

CONCLUSION

I want you to think about the words that have been spoken over you. Some of you have been carrying the weight of a sentence spoken by a parent, a teacher, or an ex-spouse twenty years ago. You were told you were not enough. You were told you were invisible. You were told you would never heal. And for years, you have let those dead words build a cage around your divine inheritance.

Today, the cage opens. The Holy Spirit is in this room, and He wants to wash your ears from every curse ever spoken over you, and He wants to wash your mouth from every curse you have spoken over yourself. It is time to repent for agreeing with the enemy. It is time to stop letting your pain dictate your vocabulary. As you leave this place, surrender your tongue to the Lord. Let Him give you a new language—a language of hope, of redemption, and of undeniable power. You are not a victim of your circumstances; you are a kingdom citizen with the supernatural power to speak life into the dark.
