

Strangers: Following Jesus in a world that doesn't always understand us

Who am I?

DISCIPLESHIP QUESTIONS

In what ways can we remind ourselves of our identity as 'God's elect' when we feel like outsiders in our surroundings?

How does acknowledging our identity in Christ empower us to face challenges in a culture that may not share our beliefs?

What practical steps can we take to ensure our loyalty to God, especially in environments that pressure us to conform?

How can understanding that we are called to 'seek prosperity' for those around us, even amidst differences, change our approach to community engagement?

In what ways can we act as witnesses to God's love in our daily lives, especially in a world that often feels hostile to our faith?

How can you identify situations in your life where you feel like an outsider and what role does your faith play in these moments?

What does it mean for you personally to embrace being a 'stranger' in a world that often doesn't understand your beliefs?

How can you make choices that reflect your loyalty to God when your peers may have different values?

In what ways can you actively seek the well-being of those around you who may not share your faith?

What are some ways you can share your faith gently and respectfully with friends who might be skeptical or indifferent about God?