WHY DO WE DO THAT?

Responsive Reading

During our times of gathered worship on a Sunday, you might be asked to participate in a corporate responsive reading. But what is a responsive reading?

The tradition of responsive readings dates back to the early church, was continued by the Puritans and reformers, and remains a regular element in the liturgy of many churches today. Responsive readings are just that, a reading that is done responsively, out loud, often with a leader and the congregation trading sections of a given text ("call and response"). These readings might consist of a portion of Scripture, a prayer, or a written meditation that highlights themes found in God's word. As we read these truths we not only learn and process ourselves but we also build one another as well.

We include responsive readings in our liturgy because we love how they help us link arms with saints who have gone before us, they encourage us to participate during corporate worship, they help us teach and learn the truths of God's Word, and they unite us as we worship our great God.

We're excited to have Kylee Rogers home on furlough! Kylee has been one of Summit's supported missionaries for the past two and a half years as she's served with Operation Mobilization in Romania. This Sunday evening, July 24th, at 7pm we will be having a special dessert night at Summit. You'll get a chance to meet Kylee, hear highlights of God's work in Romania, and get an update of what's on the horizon for her. Please consider helping by bringing along a dessert to share. Sign-up via our E-Newsletter!

Summer In The Psalms | July 31

Beginning July 31, we'll spend the last six Sundays of the summer in the Psalms together. The Psalms reflect the diverse emotional and spiritual experiences of life in the world and help us to process them Coram Dei (before God's face). Through these six weeks we'll hear from six different speakers, all of whom will uniquely express God's truth through these beautiful poems. Lean in and enjoy!
