Atheists converted to Christianity by the evidence for the resurrection of Jesus Christ

- CS. Lewis – Oxford professor and writer of The Chronicles of Narnia series and Mere Christianity
- Alister McGrath – Biochemist, Christian theologian and founder of "scientific theology"
- Kirk Cameron – Actor noted for his role in Growing Pains
- Francis Collins – Physician-geneticist, noted for his landmark discoveries of disease genes; director of the National Human Genome Research Institute
- Simon Greenleaf – One of the main founders of Harvard Law School, Greenleaf's principal work is a Treatise on the Law of Evidence (3 vols., 1842–1853), and which remains a standard textbook in American law schools. He was an atheist set out to disprove the resurrection.
- Lee Strobel – Former avowed atheist and journalist for the Chicago Tribune; was converted by his own journalistic research intended to test the veracity of scriptural claims concerning Jesus; author of such apologetic books as "The Case for Faith" and "The Case for Christ".
- Josh McDowell - Evangelical Christian apologist and evangelist. He is the author or co-author of over 150 books. Most notably, "Evidence That Demands a Verdict", "More Than a Carpenter", "A Ready Defense" and "Right from Wrong".
- Albert Henry Ross- A skeptic regarding the resurrection of Jesus, who set out to analyze the apparent myth. In compiling his notes, he came to be convinced of the truth of the resurrection, he set out his reasoning in the book "Who moved the stone?"
- J. Warner Wallace – A Dateline featured cold case detective. As an atheist, he decided disprove the Resurrection of Jesus Christ, and became a Christ-follower at the age of thirty-five after investigating the claims of the New Testament gospels using his skill set as a detective. He wrote the book "Cold-Case Christianity: A Homicide Detective Investigates the Claims of the Gospels".
- Francis Schaeffer- Author of "True Spirituality". "As a youth, by mistake, the library accidentally checked out a book to him on philosophy. He decided to read it. He found that the book raised all of the questions of life. As a result, by the age of 18 he had become an Agnostic. At the time, he was a church goer at a church that was greatly influenced by Religious Liberalism and which did not believe the Bible was true. Nevertheless, for the sake of honesty, he decided to read the Bible to give it a fair hearing. At the end of his reading, from Genesis to Revelations over six months, he realized that it answered all of the core questions of life and Francis Schaeffer became a Christian." From francisshaefterstudies.org
