

animative manner to a question from the panel's chairman, Sen. Roger Wicker (R-Ala.), about whether there is Russian involvement...

MOJTABA KHAMENEI

Iran regime power players may eye Russia in Assad-style escape as US talks falter: expert

Expert says top commanders like Ghalibaf might head to Moscow while lower figures seek shelter in Iraq or Afghanistan

By Emma Bussey · Fox News

Published May 11, 2026 5:09pm EDT

The apparent collapse of high-stakes U.S.-Iran negotiations has intensified fears that senior figures inside Tehran's leadership could flee to Russia, seeking refuge to "continue their insurgency and undermine any new regime," an analyst warns.

The breakdown in talks comes as Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu also told CBS' "60 Minutes" that toppling Iran's regime could now even be a ...