Handmade pottery jar
This jar is made of light-colored clay and is decorated with a simple, geometric pattern. It is a typical example of the pottery found at the site of the ancient city of Jericho.

Fragment of an ancient papyrus scroll with several columns of text in a cursive script. The text is heavily damaged and mostly illegible due to significant wear, including large holes and missing sections. The visible characters are dark and appear to be from a script such as Demotic or Hieroglyphic.
