

The Sheep and the Goats

Stuart Segall

The story of the Sheep and the Goats is only found in Matthew.

Jesus then characterized as a shepherd who separates sheep from goats in his mixed flock.

Bonus question #1: The most quoted verse in the Old Testament is Psalms 110:1.

Bonus question #2: there will be a drawing if you answer right. This correct answer qualifies you for CTK Person of the Minute. This verse, the most quoted verse in the Old Testament appears 18 times in the New Testament.

The term “separation” in Matthew 25:32 is a metaphor for judgment.

Why are the sheep called “blessed of my Father”?

- a. Because sheep lives matter?
- b. God just simply likes sheep over goats?
- c. They know the Bible inside and out.
- d. It is because of the way they treated God’s people.

The way that we treat God’s people is how we treat God or Christ.

The first listed fruit of the Spirit of God is Love.

If someone asks you what the Bible is about, tell them it is about how the love of God can be shed abroad in our hearts through the Holy Spirit. Romans 5:5

Bonus Question #3: Answer this one correctly and you can enter a drawing for unlimited coffee at your next CTK church service. “Your patience, endurance, and loyalty with CTK while it goes through this difficult time of waiting, hoping and enduring, is one way you do as Jesus taught.

Jesus reminds us, “The Poor you always have with you.” Matthew 26:11

The whole Bible is fundamentally about loving God and loving mankind.

Caution note: Don’t look for or expect thanks - don’t look for recognition.

The entire Law is summed up in a single command, “Love your neighbor as yourself”.

As said before we need to be the Church He makes that clear in Matthew 25.

In the judgment those who hear His voice and follow Him will be judged as His faithful sheep. And all his sheep said Baaaa....men.
