Lesson Points

1. Deny Impulses

Vision requires spiritual discipline. Jesus moved only according to what He saw the Father doing, not according to emotion, panic, or fleshly impulse. Believers must walk by the Spirit and not react according to natural pressure. (John 5:19; Galatians 5:16; Romans 8:14)

1. What does Jesus' example in John 5:19 teach about Spirit-led living?
2. What impulses or emotions most challenge your spiritual focus?
3. How can surrendering to God's leading point unbelievers to Christ?

2. Deny Imposters

Not every voice or opportunity comes from God. Kingdom vision requires discernment and surrender. Jesus exposed the rich young ruler's divided heart and taught that His sheep must follow His voice alone. (Matthew 19:16–22; John 10:5)

4. Why did the rich young ruler struggle to follow Jesus fully?
5. How can you better discern God's voice from false influences?
6. Why is wholehearted obedience important when sharing Christ with others?

3. Deny Intimidation

Fear and resistance attempt to stop Kingdom vision, but Jesus was never intimidated by failure, pressure, or opposition. Believers are called to stand in faith and authority because God has given power, love, and a sound mind. (Matthew 17:14–18; 2 Timothy 1:7; Isaiah 41:10)

7. How did Jesus respond differently than the disciples in Matthew 17?
8. What situations tempt you to fear or intimidation?
9. How can confidence in Christ encourage someone struggling with fear?

4. Deny Intruders

The enemy fights for influence in the mind through thoughts, imaginations, and deception. Jesus refused to give Satan any place, and believers must take thoughts captive and renew their minds through God's Word. (Matthew 16:23; John 14:30; 2 Corinthians 10:5; Romans 12:2)

10. What does it mean to take thoughts captive to Christ?
11. How can you guard your mind from unhealthy influences?
12. How does a renewed mind help reveal the reality of Christ to others?
