

An Opinion Regarding the Overturning of Roe vs. Wade

In my opinion, January 22, 1973 (Roe vs Wade) is one of the darkest days in the history of the United States. On that day the US Supreme Court made the unconstitutional ruling that killing an unborn baby is an act protected by the Constitution of the United States. It ruled that any woman who wants to kill her alive unborn baby may do so whenever and however she decides. Often the father of this unborn is encouraging her or demanding her to do so. Since then, approximately 20% of all unborn babies are killed before they see the light of day.

This legalized murder is called "pro-choice" but the baby has no choice. It is argued that any woman has the right to do with her body as she chooses. But the baby she carries is not her body, it belongs to another human being. Thanks be to God our current Supreme Court has ruled that our Constitution does not legalize abortion. Each state of our nation now has the responsibility to make abortion legal or illegal in their state. I live in a state where abortion will be illegal. Hopefully in the future sanity will prevail and abortion will become illegal in all states.

We are blessed living in Starkville to have a nonprofit organization, Starkville Pregnancy Center, that provides medical advice and encouragement for anyone pregnant to carry her baby to full term, deliver a healthy baby and recommend adoption services for any unwanted child.
