

“You’re familiar with the old written law, ‘Love your friend,’ and its unwritten companion, ‘Hate your enemy.’ I’m challenging that. I’m telling you to love your enemies. Let them bring out the best in you, not the worst.

When someone gives you a hard time, respond with the energies of prayer, for then you are working out of your true selves, your God-created selves. This is what God does. He gives his best, the sun to warm and the rain to nourish, to everyone regardless..."

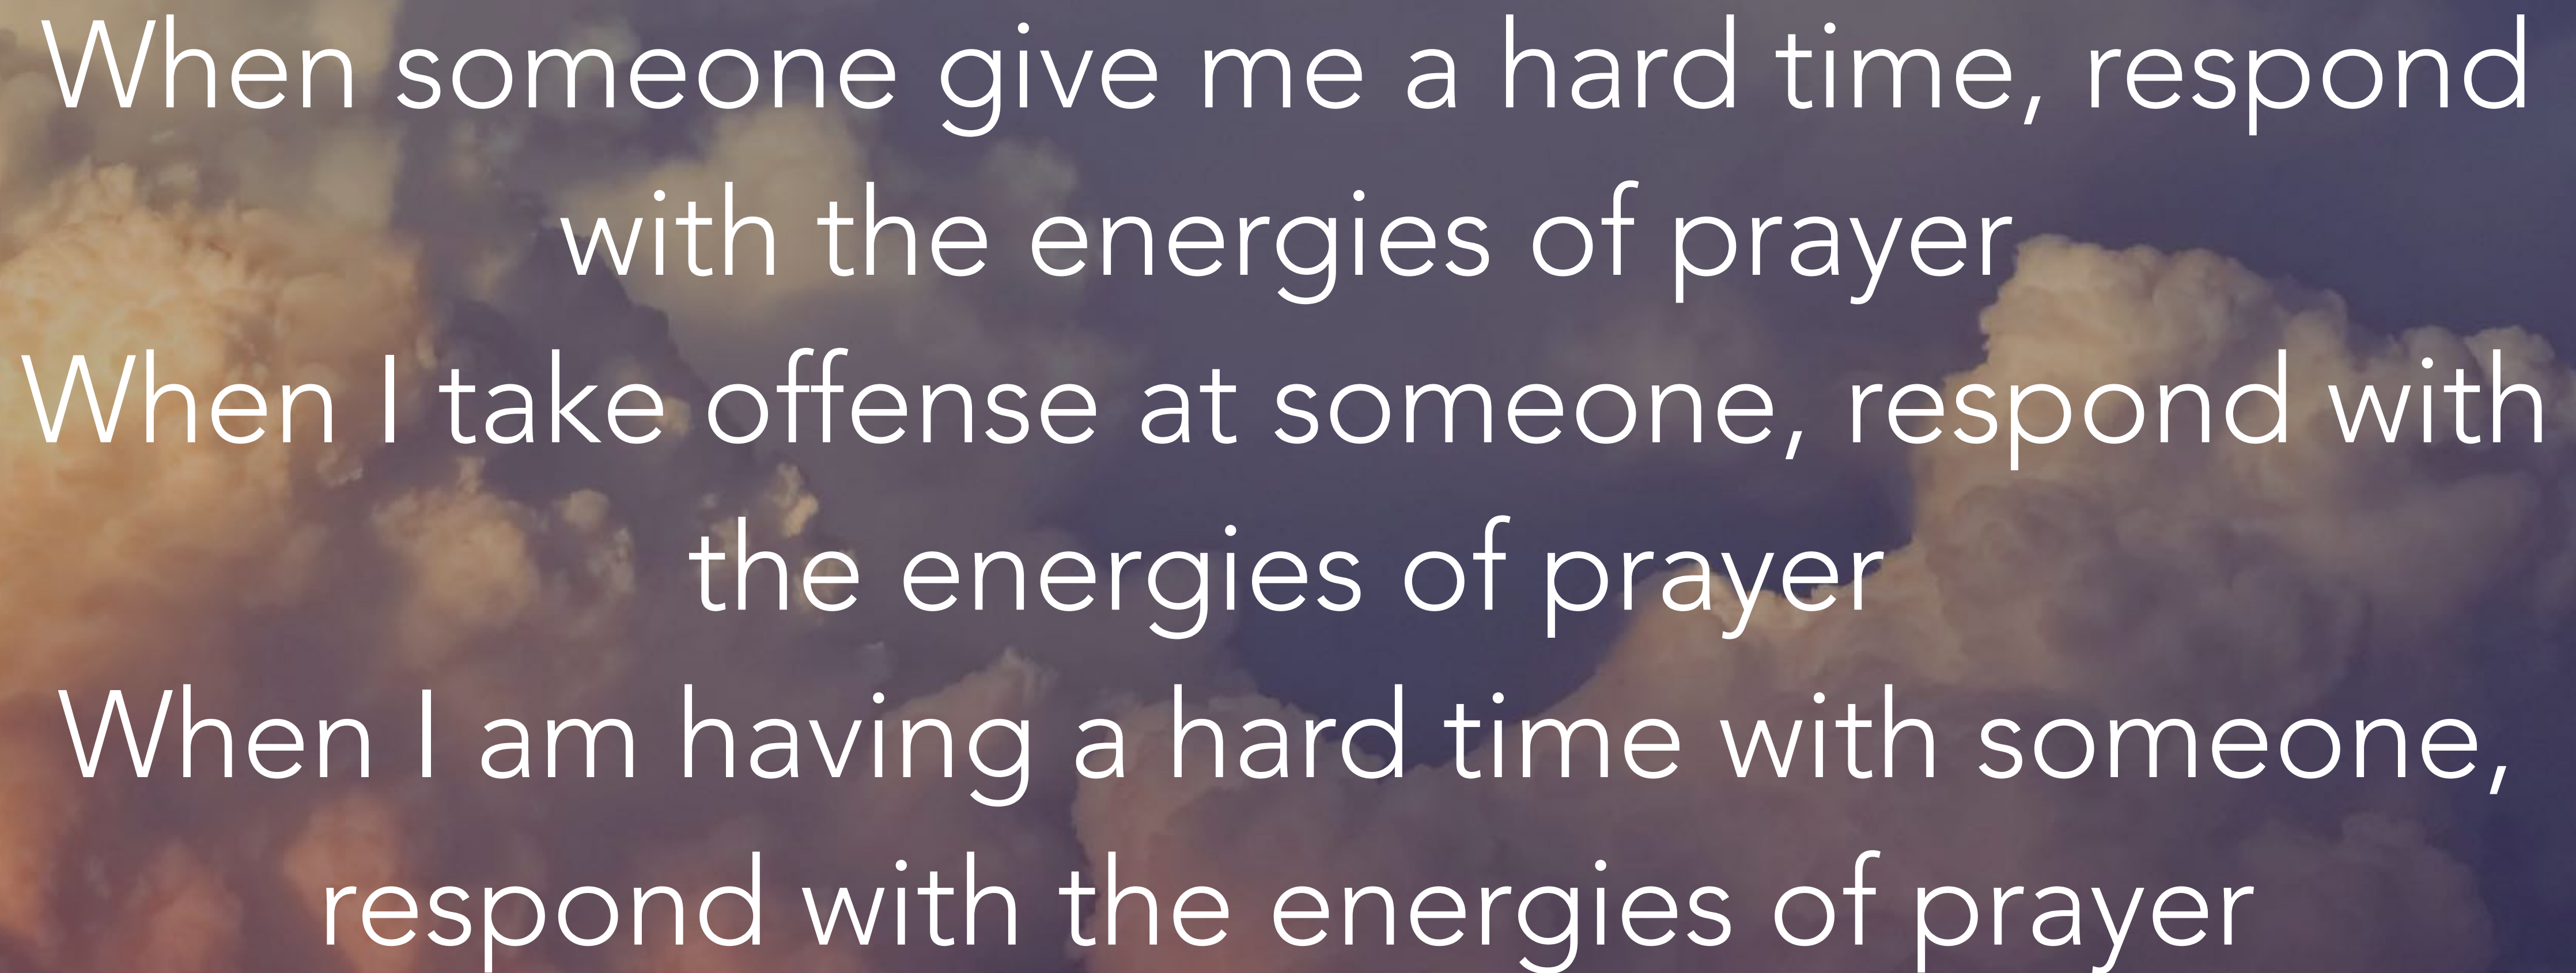

How often do we get stuck in a pattern of behavior because:

- It's what we know, and we need God to illuminate another way
- We simply cannot image that big of a change, or change at all

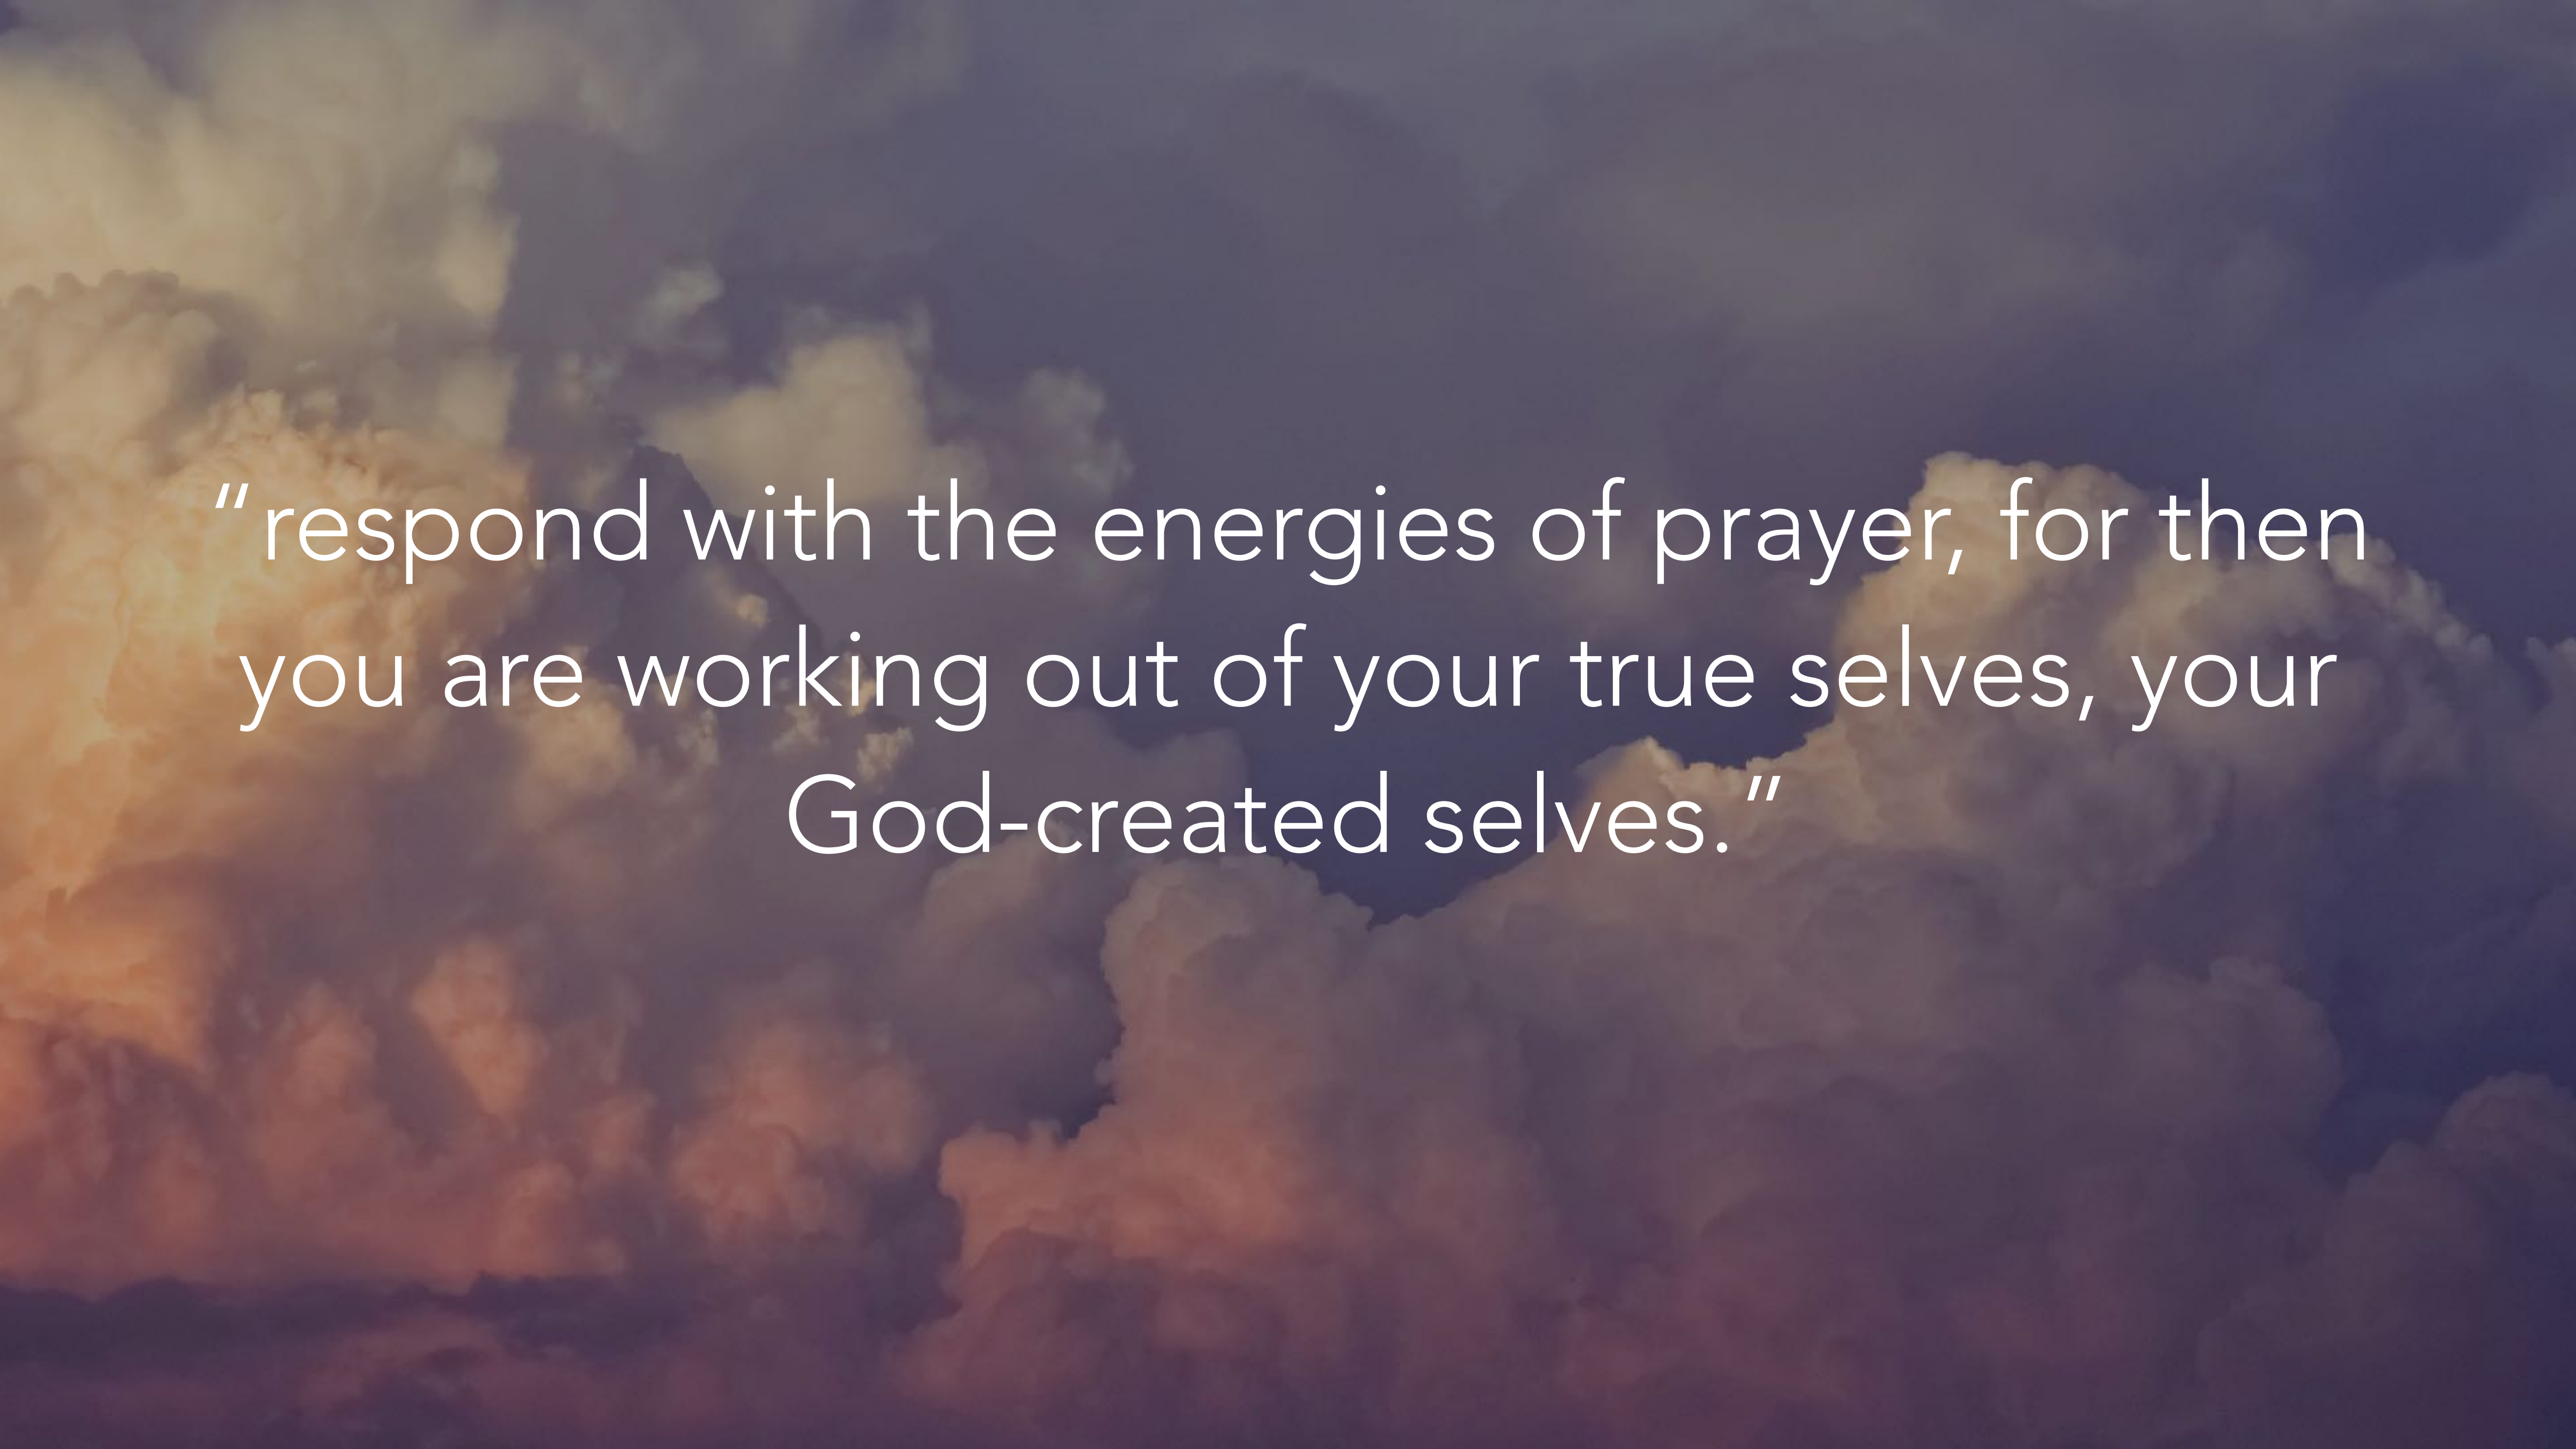

When someone gives you a hard time, respond with the energies of prayer, for then you are working out of your true selves, your God-created selves.

When someone give me a hard time, respond with the energies of prayer

When I take offense at someone, respond with the energies of prayer

When I am having a hard time with someone, respond with the energies of prayer

“respond with the energies of prayer, for then you are working out of your true selves, your God-created selves.”

- It's what we know, and we need God to illuminate another way
- We simply cannot image that big of a change

Where are you stuck and need God to illuminate another way?

How are you stuck because you cannot imagine change happening?
