

Mid-East Prophecy Update – December 11th, 2014

- I'll do something a little bit differently for today's prophecy update in that I've titled it, "If I Were the Devil and I Knew My Time Was Short."
- If that title sounds like Paul Harvey's piece titled, "If I were the devil," that's because it's based on Paul Harvey's piece, "If I were the devil."
- If you're unfamiliar with it, kindly allow me to take you back almost 50-years ago to the year 1965 and quote this profoundly prophetic word.

"If I Were The Devil" -- "If I were the devil, I wouldn't be happy until I had seized the ripest apple on the tree... So I'd set about however necessary to take over the United States. I'd subvert the churches first — I would begin with a campaign of whispers. With the wisdom of a serpent, I would whisper to you as I whispered to Eve: 'Do as you please. Do as you please.' 'To the young, I would whisper, 'The Bible is a myth.' I would convince them that man created God instead of the other way around. I would confide that what is bad is good, and what is good is 'square.' ... "And then I'd get organized. ...I'd threaten TV with dirtier movies and vice versa. I'd pedal narcotics to whom I could. I'd sell alcohol to ladies and gentlemen of distinction. I'd tranquilize the rest with pills. If I were the devil I'd soon have families that war with themselves, churches that war with themselves, and nations that war with themselves; until each in its turn was consumed. And with promises of higher ratings I'd have mesmerizing media fanning the flames. If I were the devil I would encourage schools to refine young intellects, and neglect to discipline emotions... "Within a decade I'd have prisons overflowing, I'd have judges promoting pornography — soon I could evict God from the courthouse, and then the schoolhouse, and then from the houses of Congress. And in His own churches I would substitute psychology for religion, and deify science. ...If I were the devil I'd make the symbols of Easter an egg and the symbol of Christmas a bottle. "If I were the devil I'd take from those, who have, and give to those who wanted until I had killed the incentive of the ambitious. ...I would question against extremes and hard work, and Patriotism, and moral conduct. I would convince the young that marriage is old-fashioned, that swinging more fun, that what you see on the TV is the way to be. And thus I could undress you in public, and I could lure you into bed with diseases for which there is no cure. In other words, if I were to devil I'd keep on doing on what he's doing. Paul Harvey, good day."

- Let's move from 1965 to the present day in which we're hugging the year 2015, and let's say that Paul Harvey were still here to update this.
- With that presupposition, we need to factor in how that two-years after he wrote this piece, Israel would miraculously take back Jerusalem.
- We will also need to consider all that's happened to and in both the United States and Israel in the last 50-years, i.e., September 11th 2001.

- Then, once we've filled in all the blanks, as it were, we will need to bring into Paul Harvey's update, the scripture found in Revelation 12:12.

Revelation 12:12 Therefore rejoice, you heavens and you who dwell in them! But woe to the earth and the sea, because the devil has gone down to you! He is filled with fury, because he knows that his time is short."

- Having done all that, let's now seek to update Paul Harvey's, "If I were the devil," with, "If I Were the Devil and I Knew My Time Was Short."

"If I were the devil and I knew my time was short, I wouldn't be happy until I expedited the dismantling and destroying of the one nation with the most powerful Christian influence on earth, in order to get them out of my way. I would begin by implementing a full scale attack on churches until the people no longer put up with sound doctrine and instead flocked to churches where they could hear what their ears are itching to hear. When I succeed at doing this, and I most certainly will, America will start coming apart at the seams, and then I would get organized. I would create distrust of those in positions of authority, especially in the arena of law enforcement by rekindling the flame of racism. Then I would spread this distrust into the U.S. military so they are seen as oppressors who mete out an unjust and torturous evil. Then I'd see to it that I crush them with national debt for which there are no means to repay, and within months I'd have their stock market crash. Then knowing my time was short, I would hammer the final nail in their coffin by getting them to turn their backs on Israel so God's blessing on them, would be replaced with a curse upon them. In other words, if I were the devil and I knew my time was short, I'd keep on doing what I've been doing."

- While I realize this is a fictitious rendering of an updated narrative, we would do well to take note of four facts that find their basis in reality.
- More specifically attacking the church, demonizing law enforcement and the military, crashing the economy, and abandoning God's people.
- I would suggest that like the four legs that keep a table from crashing down, they are now being systematically and satanically dismantled.

- Perhaps you'll indulge me briefly, as I quickly read just the headlines, and just from this last week, pertaining to these four legs, if you will.

I'll close with this last article, as I think it demonstrates just how serious a threat a strong and powerful Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu is to the powers of darkness that seek to wipe Israel off the map. Simply put, he's in the way, and as such, Bibi must go. Enter this Jerusalem Post article from last Thursday, December 11th, with the aforementioned title, "Is Obama secretly working to replace Netanyahu." Before I quote excerpts from it, I would highly encourage you to read this article in its entirety, by entering the title in a search. Now, here's what some of the article had to say, "A dispassionate look at the sequence of events shows that the Obama administration has generated an unprecedented crisis in US-Israeli relations, a crisis utilized at every twist and turn by Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu's political rivals, most notably those within his coalition, to try to shake up the country's leadership. There is more than a hint of White House interference in helping to agitate the coalition drama that provoked Netanyahu's hesitant decision last Tuesday to dissolve parliament and schedule early elections that could potentially see the prime minister unseated. ...Unforgivable to the US president is Bibi's stubborn refusal to acquiesce to the concept of a sweeping, final deal with Iran that many experts believe will leave the mullahs perpetually within months of a nuclear weapon. ...Also problematic for the White House is the breakdown of Israeli-Palestinian "peace" talks, with rhetoric from the Obama administration indicating that the US largely blames Netanyahu for the collapse of the negotiations. ...The White House has singled out Netanyahu as standing in the way of Obama's utopian vision for a new Middle East and Persian Gulf. What better way to bypass this obstacle than aiding in Netanyahu's removal from office? "
