1st Corinthians 1:10-17

There are many things that divide Christians, but doctrine shouldn't be one of them. Paul exhorts the church to remain united in the gospel.

What would you consider to be the greatest influence on your personal worldview? Can you list organizations or people that you spend the most time with that support and affirm your worldview?

What are the main things that people in the church get divided over? Do you think a majority of these things are minor or major issues?

Paul begins this section with a loving approach. Do you think it's important to speak truth in love? Are there times that this command isn't necessary? (Hint: NO!)

Does "oneness" mean the same as "uniformity"? Why is the distinction important?

Are there things that people in the church can be divided by that aren't significant? Why can we still fellowship and worship together?
