1st Corinthians 10:1-13

Take heed lest you fall: obeying the biblical command against presumption in our victory over sin.

Are there areas of your life where you are consistently giving into sin? If so, has presumption played a role in your failing?

What Christian freedoms should you consider releasing for the sake of fleeing sin (consider entertainment, food, drink, hobbies, etc.)?

The stories from the Old Testament are written at least in part as an example to believers today. Are there any OT stories that seem relevant to your life today?

Have you been viewing the fight against sin too much as a "wrestle" instead of fleeing?

Have you been viewing growing in maturity as becoming less cautious instead of more cautious?
