Philippians 2:12-13

The issue of salvation has been challenging for people to reconcile, specifically the paradox concerning God's sovereignty and human responsibility. Paul addresses this in Philippians 2:12-13.

What are some Scriptures that confirm God as the active agent in our salvation? What about in the salvific work of sanctification?

What are some Scriptures that confirm human responsibility in salvation? What about the salvific work of sanctification?

Do these Scriptures find themselves at odds with one another? How do they complement each other?

Many denominations and theological structures have been founded on a hyper-leaning of doctrinal paradoxes in Scripture. Can you give any examples?

Your life will reflect the gospel that you believe.

How does this statement relate to the phrase "you are saved by faith alone but not a faith that is alone"? How is FAITH and WORKS intertwined with one another?

Why is obedience important in our sanctification? How is it possible?

Our salvation can be WORKED OUT by us because it's been WORKED IN by Christ.
