I WAS ABOUT TO QUIT!

One day, I took a look at the stats for the Connecting Faith and Life Podcast. I was curious—how's the podcast doing? Who's watching or listening, and from where?

Recording in the studio by myself can feel a little lonely. Since it's not live, I often wonder if anyone's even listening.

So I checked all the platforms—our app, YouTube, Spotify, Apple Podcasts, Buzzsprout, and Facebook. The truth is, producing this podcast is a lot of work. From planning, writing, and recording on my end to editing, proofreading, posting, and managing all the post-production tasks by our team—it takes a lot of time and effort.

Naturally, I wanted to see if all that investment was making a difference. Honestly, I was feeling a little discouraged. I even considered taking a break from the podcast.

But then—something happened.

The very next day, three different people approached me to thank me for the podcast. One couple told me they listened to several episodes during a long road trip. A father looked me in the eye and said, "I really needed to hear that. Thank you."

That moment reminded me: it's not about the numbers—it's about being faithful. Faithful with what God has given me to do.

To all our Proclaim Partners—thank you. Your faithful support helps us continue connecting faith and life for people everywhere.
