Revelation 11:3-13

Introduction: In this morning's message we're going to look at two fascinating prophets of God who arrive on the scene during the tribulation period to call Israel and the world to repent of their sin and ungodliness. These two prophets will not only preach the gospel but will also have the power to close the windows of heaven so that it will not rain. They will have the power to have fire come out of their mouths to consume those who try to hurt them. For three and a half years these men will witness with boldness and power. Who are these two men? In this morning's message we will find out who these two preachers are and how God uses them during the tribulation period.
