

Lazarus, brother of Mary and Martha, was very sick. They were all close friends with Jesus and sent word to Him to come to them quickly. He replied to them that it wouldn't end in death, but would become a chance to show God's glory.

He then waited 2 days before heading their way. When He finally arrived, Lazarus had already died and had been in the tomb 4 days.

Mary and Martha were upset with Him for not coming when they sent for Him.

"If You had been here, he would not have died."

When He saw everyone mourning, He was moved deeply and wept uncontrollably.

Then Jesus had them remove the stone from the tomb, and He brought Lazarus back to life.

How does God feel about us?

It's hard to trust when we can't see the BIG PICTURE.

Even though Jesus knows how it's going to turn out, our suffering still breaks His heart.

"They were such big, bright tears compared with Digory's own that for a moment he felt as if the Lion must really be sorrier about his mother than he was himself."

- C.S. Lewis, The Magician's Nephew

Even when we don't see it, HE'S WORKING.

Sometimes we see it in our lifetime. Sometimes we don't.

When you're suffering, He's weeping with you.

God's heart beats for you.

"His human nature engages our troubles comprehensively. He is a love that cannot be held back when He sees His people in pain."

- Dane C. Ortlund, Gently and Lowly

A God who loves us so deeply is a God worth loving completely.
