POSSIBLE

LIVING SENT

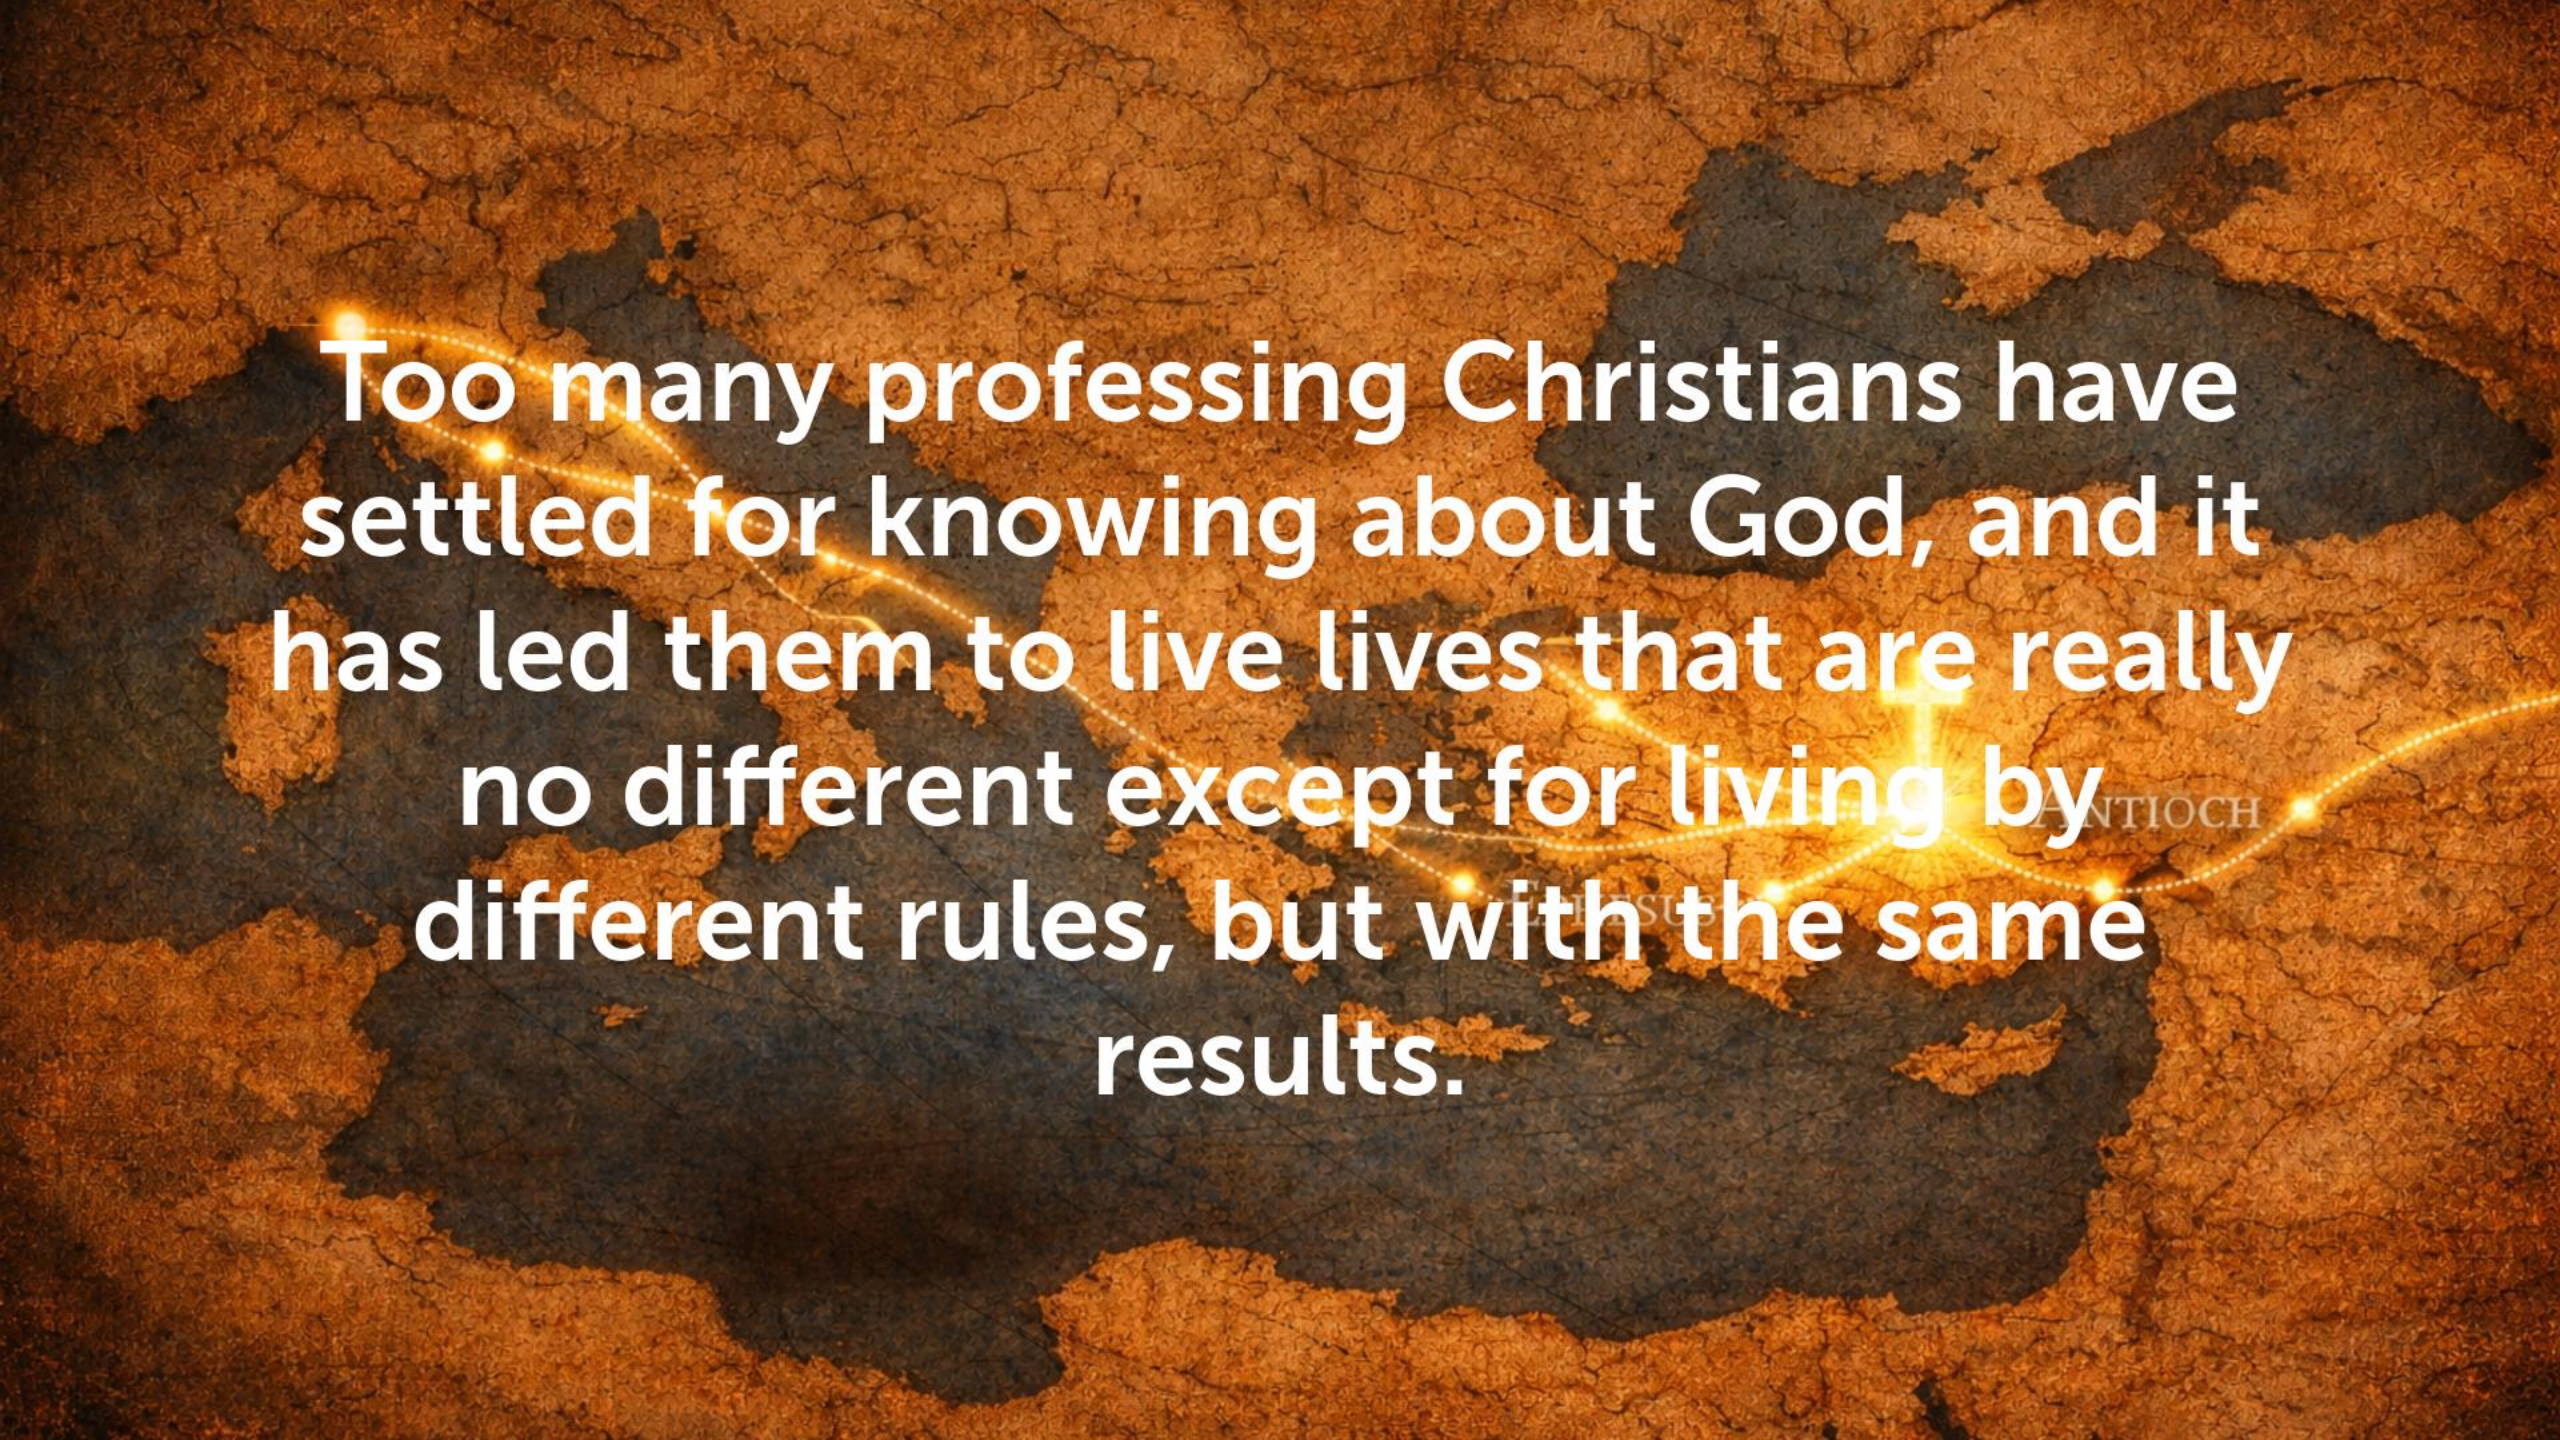

ACTS 13-28

EPHESUS

ANTIOCH

The God We Can Know

Acts 17:16-34

Too many professing Christians have settled for knowing about God, and it has led them to live lives that are really no different except for living by different rules, but with the same results.

In Paul's waiting, God is working; in Paul's stillness, God is moving.

ANTIOCH
EPHESUS

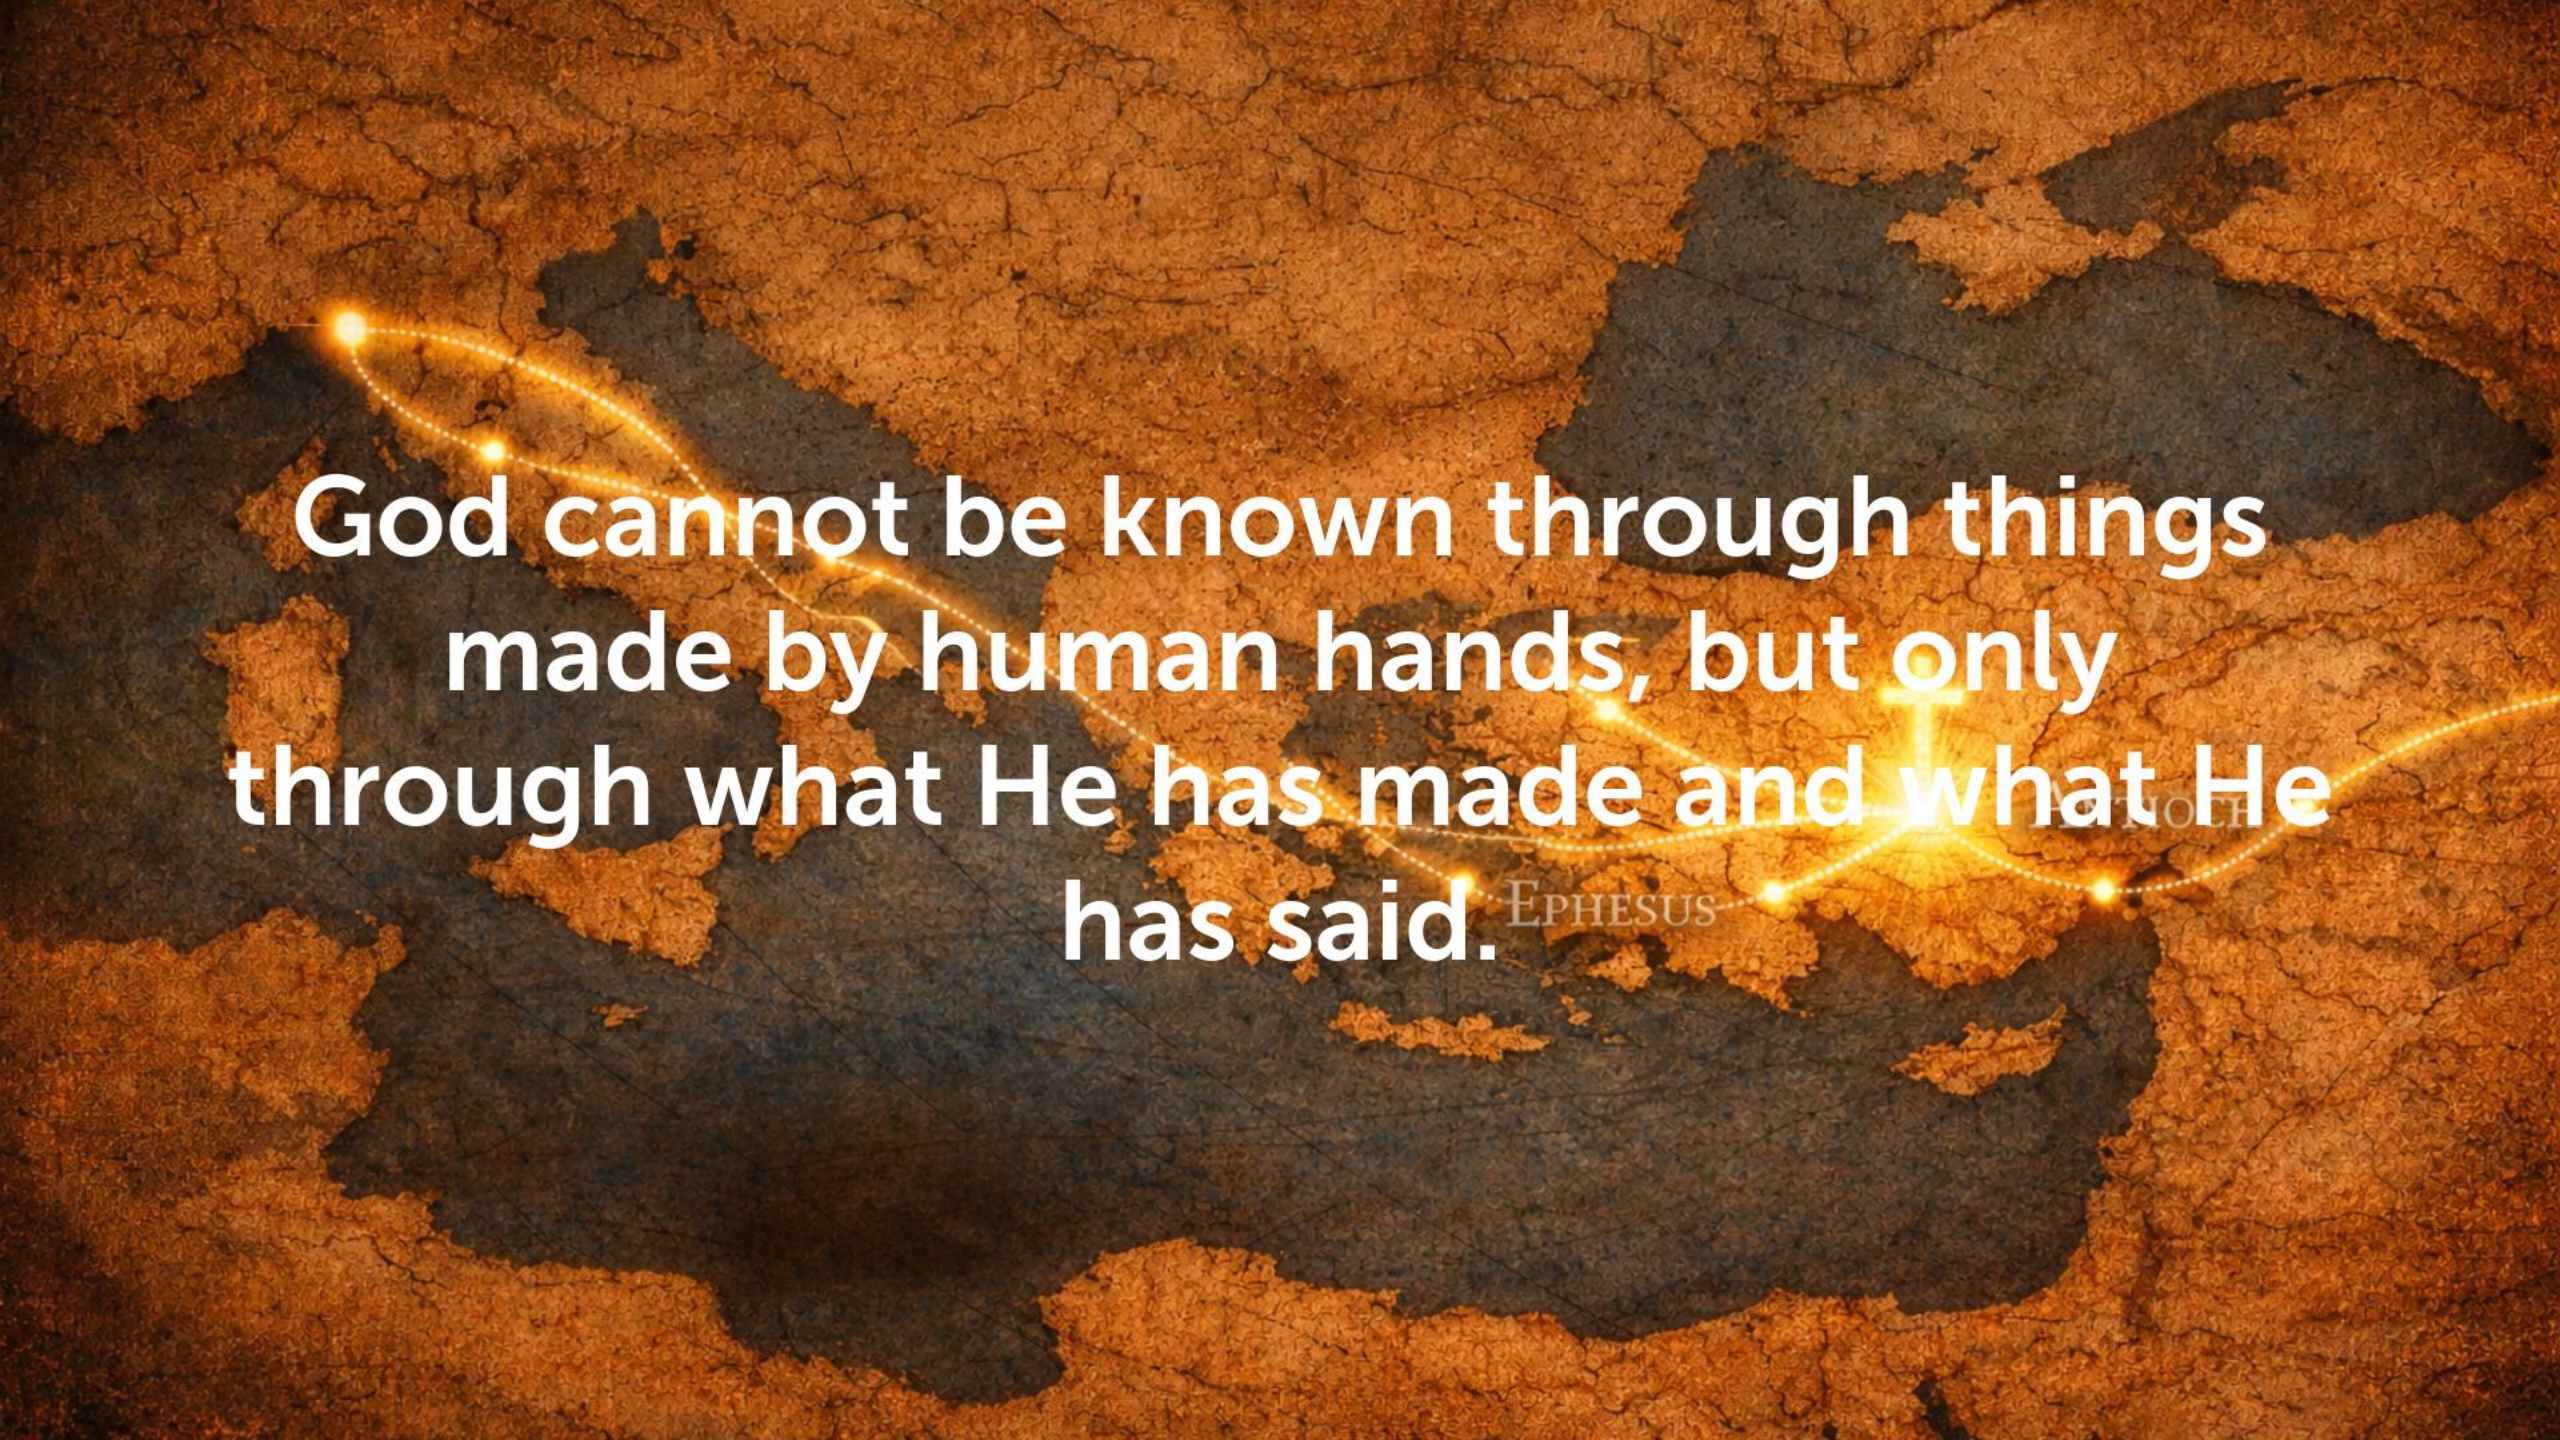

In our willingness to be still, we should allow God to provoke our spirits to righteous anger against the idolatry we see in us and around us.

If we are not careful, all our religion will actually become our stumbling block to a true faith-based relationship with our Father.

ANTIOCH
EPHESUS

God cannot be known through things made by human hands, but only through what He has made and what He has said.

EPHESUS

The world's greatest problem isn't that God is unknowable, it is that the world doesn't want to know God.

ANTIOCH

EPHESUS

God is near to us, but we need the work of Jesus Christ to give our blind eyes sight in order to know Him.

ANTIOCH

EPHESUS

The resurrection verifies that God will judge the world through His Son.

EPHESUS

ANTIOCH

When we couple Christ-centered exposition of scripture with a Berean approach to scripture the gospel will always persuade change in our hearts.

The reason we really fear change is because we're living in a fearful bondage of the enemy's resistance to change.
