

A dramatic landscape featuring a prominent, snow-capped mountain peak in the center. The sky is filled with soft, colorful clouds in shades of blue, purple, and orange, suggesting a sunrise or sunset. The overall scene is serene and majestic.

Living For Christ In The Day-To-Day pt.1

Exodus 20:22-21:32

God is concerned with how we relate to one another in day-to-day life.

A dramatic landscape featuring a mountain peak in the center, partially obscured by a large, billowing cloud formation. The sky is a mix of light blue, white, and soft pinkish-purple, suggesting a sunrise or sunset. The overall mood is serene and majestic.

Just like the nation of Israel, who sought to apply the Ten Commandments, we too must learn to apply God's Word to our situation today.

God's character is revealed in His law, and this makes these laws relevant.

God not only wanted Israel to avoid worshiping pagan gods, He also wanted them to avoid worshiping like the pagans.

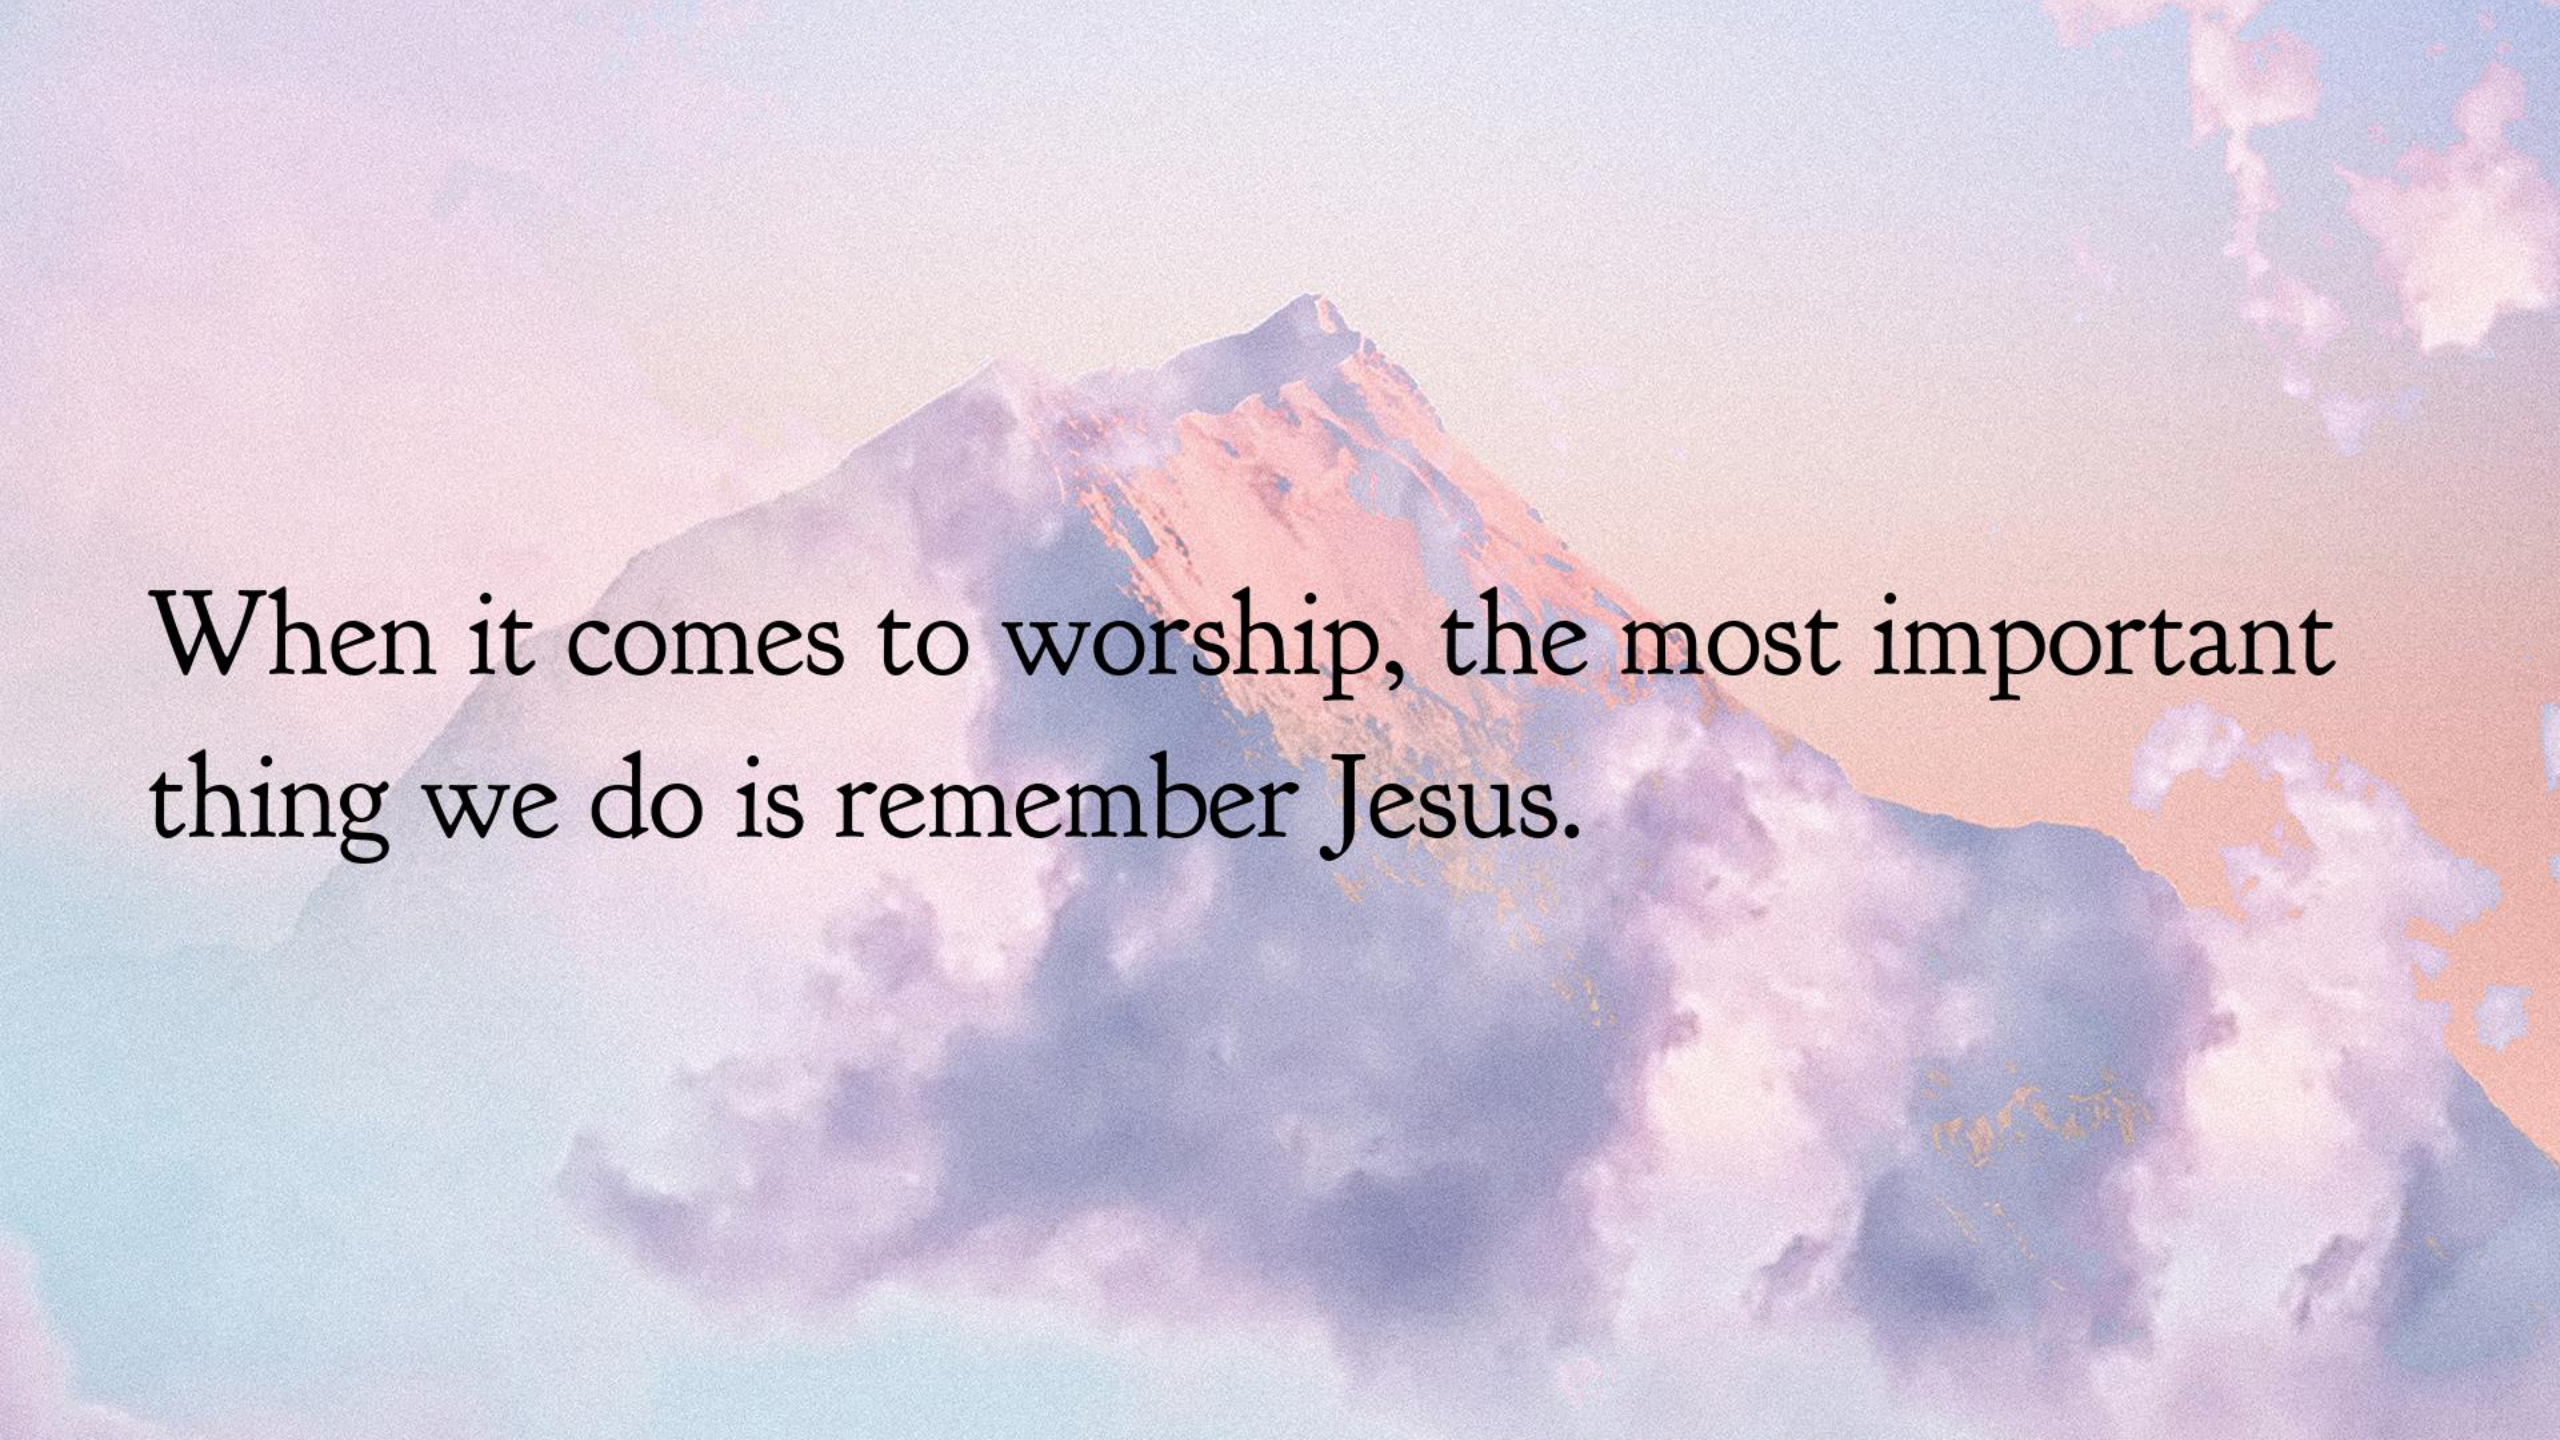

We do not have to make a pilgrimage to a certain place to experience God's power in worship. We come through Christ (our new temple) by the Spirit to meet with God.

A dramatic landscape featuring a mountain peak with a snow-capped summit and a steep, rocky slope. The sky is filled with large, billowing white and grey clouds, suggesting a storm or a dramatic weather system. The overall color palette is dominated by cool blues, greys, and whites, with some warmer tones on the mountain's slopes.

The heart of the Christian must be a heart of mercy, not retaliation.

We are no longer slaves to sin but slaves to Christ!

A photograph of a mountain peak, likely Mount Everest, with a sunset sky. The sky is a mix of orange, yellow, and blue, with white and grey clouds. The mountain is dark and rocky, with some snow or ice patches. The text is overlaid on the image.

When it comes to worship, the most important thing we do is remember Jesus.