John 15:9-13

Sermon Notes

- ⇒ Both David and Jonathan were Godly, faithful believers in the Lord who loved each other as brothers in that faith they shared. Why did they suffer so, in spite of their strong identification with the ways of Our Lord god? What was their friendship based on?
 - ⇒ In terms of worldly events and outcomes?
 - ⇒ As far as any potential "positive" benefits of suffering?
 - ⇒ Related to what was ahead for each of them in this life and what they believed about life beyond this one?
(hint: faith, worship, prayer...to whom?)

- ⇒ Is there a person(s) right now in your life that God is beckoning you to take a chance on you becoming a friend? Maybe a Person of Peace, meaning they are inquisitive about spiritual matters of faith, or God, Jesus, or prayers, worship and such? Are you willing to at least attempt to "love them" in a way similar to a type of David/Jonathan's relationship and do your
