FROM PAMPLIN

Missions AAEO, New York
Emanuel Grozea was born in communist Romania to a family of smugglers—Bible smugglers. As a teenager, Emanuel felt God calling him into ministry. He pastored for almost a decade in Romania before God moved him and his family to lead a Romanian Baptist church on the verge of closing in New York City. In the Ridgewood community, about half of the neighborhood speaks a language other than English and once was heavily populated with Romanian immigrants.

“God gave us a burden—a vision for what it needs to be in our generation. Our vision is to replant and transition this church from a struggling Romanian church to a House of Worship for all nations,” says Emanuel.

Leading the Maranatha Baptist Church congregation through such a radical change has been challenging. But now, the church is reaching and welcoming Albanian, Nepali, Polish, Latino, Egyptian, Italian, Turkish and Armenian neighbors, along with Romanians. The language groups meet individually for Sunday school and then come together for corporate worship to joyfully worship as one.

Let’s pray that our gifts to the Annie Armstrong offering will continue to bless church planters like the Grozeas in New York City.

Mark 16:1-8

Pastor David Sexton

Introduction: The Easter story is not only a great story, but a familiar story that most of you could recite. But the story you would tell probably comes from a Gospel other than Mark's.

Mark's account versus John's story.

Why does Mark end it that way?

What can we do this Easter?

Christ the Lord is Risen today, ... A-a- a-a-a-le-lu-u...ia!

"But you will receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you, and you will be my witnesses in Jerusalem and in all Judea and Samaria, and to the end of the earth."

-Acts 1:8
