Other things to consider/remember:

- God – the perfect Father – experienced the rebellion of his children. Genesis 3
 - God loved them.
 - God interceded for them by covering them with animal skins.
 - God listened to them.
- “Parenting is an excruciating exercise in letting go. Our children were never ours. They were and are God’s.”
- How our children turn out is not a direct correlation to our parenting – nothing we have done or will do will stop God’s activity in their lives.
