Questions for discussion

- Is the reason we sometimes try and add to His saving grace (through good works) because being saved by grace alone just feels too good to be true?
- What can we do to move from the times where it feels like it takes all of our effort just to survive - to walking boldly in the good works He has prepared for us in advance?
- When we consider our relationship with Jesus - are we more prone to considering how we happen to be feeling about life - rather than the truth that our relationship with Jesus is actually defined by his immeasurable riches of love, grace, mercy, and kindness. If this is hindering the good works He has for us - what should we do?
- Spend some time listening to Jesus, praying for each other and encouraging each other that He has good works for us to walk in - for His glory!
