

Mark 6-10: Imitating the King
“When a Life Points to Jesus”
Mark 6:14-29

The mission of previous verses brings Jesus to the attention of Herod, ruler of Galilee. Responsible for the martyrdom of John the Baptist, Herod is plagued by the haunting effects of guilt. Even stories of Jesus drive this superstitious mind to imagine coming judgment. Mark prepares us for the passion of Jesus by reporting the passion of John.

1. Danger of a Guilty Conscience (vv.14-16)

2. Damage of a Guilty Life (vv.17-25)

3. Distress of a Guilty Soul (vv.26-29)
