Jesus Is My Example

Big Idea

I can endure all that I face in obedience to God, as I follow Jesus.

1 Peter 2:18-25

---

---

---

---

Unjust suffering because of faith in Christ is part of the Christian's calling.

The footsteps of Jesus lead through suffering and death, but they don't stop at the grave. They lead us on to eternal glory with God.

---

---

---

---

---

He was sinless but nevertheless suffered insults, wounds, and death. Jesus' redemptive death cannot be repeated or imitated, but his example of entrusting himself to God rather than retaliating is an example Peter wants his readers to follow when they suffer unjustly.

Study Questions

1. What stood out to you, challenged you, or encouraged you from Sunday's sermon/service?
2. How does Christ's suffering lead to our victory? In what ways did He suffer, according to Isaiah 53? In what ways are we victorious?
3. Are there different kinds of suffering? What kinds of suffering is Paul referring to? How can we endure this suffering with Christ as our example?
4. Note Peter's references to Isaiah. His readers would not have missed these. What connections are there between today's passage and Isaiah 53?
5. What hope does Peter offer us in this passage?
