“UNITY”

Discuss:

On Sunday, we talked a lot on the subject of unity. At the same time we discussed relationships that were broken (and needed reconciliation), as well as, other relationships in which individuals needed some encouragement.

Regarding Broken Relationships:

What is your biggest hurdle when it comes to addressing broken relationships?

The term “aim for restoration” meant three things.

- To be prepared (for reconciliation)
- To furnish completely
- To mend your ways

What is an area that you are being called to “furnish” when it comes to a broken relationship (ie. grace? humility? Compassion? Etc.)

Healing Relationships:

Think of a time in your life that you needed some encouragement. What were the circumstances? Who spoke into your life? How did that effect you?

Who do you know that desperately needs a little encouragement? How will you go out of the way to encourage them this week?
