

Father's Day gives us a chance to pause and reflect on the men who have shaped our lives — and to consider what kind of men God calls us to be. In a culture that often distorts or diminishes true masculinity, the Apostle Paul paints a compelling picture in 1 Thessalonians 2:7-12 of what a real man looks like — not through power or dominance, but through love, integrity, and purposeful influence. This morning we will examine five characteristics drawn from Paul's example that should mark every man who seeks to be God's Man.

I. God's man is _____ . (2:8)

II. God's man is _____ . (2:8)

A. It's important for us to communicate the love of God in the way we _____ to our children.

B. Being transparent means that our children can see not only the _____ things about us, but some of the _____ as well.

III. God's man is _____ . (2:9)

IV. God's man is _____ . (2:10)

A. God has given fathers the responsibility of being the _____ in their home.

III. God's man is to have a _____ in his home. (2:11-12)
