

When you think you already have what you need the most, think you already have a ruler worth following and dying for, and think you are happy, it's easy to miss the coming of Jesus. There are three major principles that the Romans embraced which defined them and kept them unaware of the way the world changed on the first Christmas Day, principles we sometimes embrace as well.

1. Rome believed in looking _____ rather than _____.

2. Rome believed it had _____ it _____.

3. Rome believed that _____ was stronger than _____.

When you think you already have what you need the most, think you already have a ruler worth following and dying for, and think you are happy, it's easy to miss the coming of Jesus. There are three major principles that the Romans embraced which defined them and kept them unaware of the way the world changed on the first Christmas Day, principles we sometimes embrace as well.

1. Rome believed in looking _____ rather than _____.

2. Rome believed it had _____ it _____.

3. Rome believed that _____ was stronger than _____.