Exodus 14:8-12

- The direction should be from God
- Don't align your actions based off of feelings
- The steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord
- Our lives should reflect Him and His goodness
- He was present then and He's present now
- Are you willing to keep fighting?
- He leads me to a place called Liberty
- Your enemy is going to stalk you. He doesn't want you and I to be free
- The enemy will attack those areas that are weak
- He will try to lead you back into the chains of bondage
- The enemy will always try to take your victory
- The altar is where the battle for your soul is fought
- God makes a way when there is no way
- Don't fail to remember that He has never failed you
- God doesn't change!
- We can trust Him. Don't doubt
- Look at your trial in a new light and remember what He's brought you through
- How do you forget how good He's been? The enemy waits for you
- When you're in your right mind, he doesn't have a chance to convince you
- Don't forget the chains that used to hold you. Don't forget the pit that God dug you out of
- Sin is never our friend
- Don't be overwhelmed by your present circumstances
