Community Group Questions:

For this series, the Speakers are referencing verses from all throughout the Bible.

- In your life, where do you struggle most to say, “That’s enough.” (Finance? Food? Friends? Time? Other?)
- How do you think others experience you when you feel like you have “enough?” What about when you don’t have “enough?”
- Many people describe a relationship with God that looks a lot like deposits and withdrawals in a spiritual bank account, with an anxious struggle to get a positive balance. Have you ever felt that way? If so, what did that look like for you? Were you able to get out of that way of thinking? If so, how?
- A Muslim friend described his firm belief in God’s mercy. He was hopeful God would forgive him because of his moral obedience and religious acts. He tries to create a “flood” of good deeds that will “rise above” his bad deeds. He is never sure if it has been enough, but he continues to try. How would that belief system affect your relationship with God? With others?
- In what ways do you think you “add sacrifices” to the sacrifice of Christ so God will forgive you?
- In what ways do you think you expect others to “add sacrifices” to the sacrifice of Christ before you forgive them?
- What does it look like to trust that the sacrifice of Christ is “all-sufficient” for you?
