Community Group Questions: Galatians 3:1-14

- How much effort do you put into keeping track of your calories, steps, money, miles or use of time? How does your attention to keeping track affect that part of your life?
- Do you put similar or different effort into keeping track of your relationships? For example, do you keep track of comments, gifts, time or other elements of friendship? Why or why not?
- How does it feel to you when you realize someone has been “keeping track” in your relationship?
- If God wants to purify and cleanse us, why do you think Paul seems to diminish the importance of the Old Testament Law? Specifically, how does it put a “curse” on us?
- In this passage, Paul describes the impact of faith when “believing what you heard” is “credited as righteousness.” But he also says that “the righteous live by faith.” If faith sometimes works like a belief and other times it works like trust, which kind of faith is more challenging for you: belief or trust? Why do you think so?
- Describe a time when someone effectively encouraged your faith. What makes it challenging for you to encourage someone’s faith?
- Do you have hope that Jesus will work out tomorrow no matter how much today gets messed up?
